Contract Offers Aired By GM, Ford, Chrysler

Higher Pay, Pensions, Earlier Retirement Are Included in Proposals

DETROIT (AP) — A wide UAW President Walter P. Reuther forecast beforehand that the offers "will not be realistic." The proposals included higher wages, increased vacation and holiday pay, earlier retirement, and a refund of the tuition of any employees furthering their education through spare-time studies. The offers, presented separately by the three companies, were expected to be replaced by a single proposal by the end of the month.

Hoffa Is Given Four Traffic Toll Five-Year Terms in Pension Fund Case

Convicted on Four Counts of Fraud; Terms Are Concurrent

CHICAGO (AP) — Teamsters President James R. Hoffa was sentenced today to four concurrent terms of five years in prison for fraud in obtaining huge loans from his union's multimillion-dollar pension fund. He also was fined $10,000. The 20-year sentence was broken down into five years on each of the four counts on which he was convicted.

Before Sentence

Before U.S. Dist. Judge Richard B. Austin sentenced Hoffa, he asked: "Has the defendant anything to say?" Hoffa, standing next to his attorney, Maurice Walsh, replied: "Nothing at all, your honor. The record speaks for itself."

Walsh asked the judge to consider Hoffa's service to labor, to communities and the citizenry, and that he has under sentence in Chattanooga in another case brought by the federal government.

The men were convicted of fraudulently arranging more than $20 million in loans from the pension fund and illegally diverting more than a million to their own use.

On Aug. 10 attorneys for Hoffa and the others filed a lengthy motion for acquittal or new trial in the case.

Fifty-six listed reasons for acquittal included what was alleged to be prejudicial humor by Judge Austin.

The conviction last month was Hoffa's second within six months.

2 Others Die of Injuries Received in Earlier Crashes

Traffic accidents on Wisconsin highways during the past weekend killed 12 persons and two others died of injuries suffered earlier, placing the state's 1964 fatality count at 656, compared with 520 at the same time in 1963.

Two men were killed in an accident Sunday a half mile south of Fish Creek. On Highway 42 in Door County. The victims were William R. Smoler, 24, of Chicago, and Robert H. Christensen, 23, of Racine. Police said they were riding in a car driven by Bruce J. Sparler, 23, York, Pa., when the vehicle went out of control on a curve.

Clinton Dieder, 21, of La Crosse was killed Sunday night when a car left Highway 53 and overturned in a ditch north of Ettrick in Trempealeau County.

Falls Under Wagon
Roger A. Tuttle, 14, of rural Campbellport was killed Sunday when he fell under the wheels of a wagon pulled by a tractor in Cascade. Authorities said the youth apparently jumped off the tractor as his uncle, Arnold L. Knoelke, turned off Sheboygan County Trunk A into his driveway.

Christ Anderson, 73, of rural Soldiers Grove was killed early Sunday when he was struck by a car as he walked on Crawford County Trunk C on the outskirts of Soldiers Grove.

Colorado River Dam Dedicated By First Lady

FLAMING GORGE, Utah (AP) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson dedicated the $65-million dam and power plant here today, and said it proved big dreams can come true.

It was the first time a First Lady — and for that matter, any woman — had dedicated a dam, according to Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall, who accompanied Mrs. Johnson here.

The 502-foot-high, dam in this spectacular gorge of red and pink rock formations, is part of a vast flood control, hydroelectric power, and recreation project in the upper Colorado River basin.

In a speech prepared for the dedication, Mrs. Johnson said that the dam would be a "symbol of the new America" and a "testament to the power of the American people."

17 Killed as French Bus Leaves Road

BOURG ST. MAURICE, France (AP) — The death count rose to 17 today in an Alpine bus accident which turned a children's vacation outing into tragedy.

Doctors in the hospital of Bourg St. Maurice worked to save the lives of 16 others injured when the bus went off the road Sunday and plunged 230 feet into a ravine.

The bus was carrying vacationing French youngsters from a shepherd's festival back to their camp at the summer resort at Seez near the Swiss frontier.

Found Off Road
The driver, Armand Lothier, 51, who suffered severe injuries, told police he was forced off the road by an approaching car.

"I knew we were going over the edge when I felt the wheels hit the soft dirt alongside the road," Lothier said.

The bus crashed through a guard rail and landed upside down at the bottom of the ravine. Motorists helped remove the dead and injured from the wreckage.

All Victims French
The accident occurred in the hamlet of La Froide, about four miles from the 7,178-foot summit of Little St. Bernard, a peak in the Alpine range which includes Mt. Blanc.

All the victims were French. When news of the tragedy was broadcast in Arras parents frantically put in telephone calls to Bourg St. Maurice.

Police stations in Arras tried electric power, and recreation to cope with the wave of calls project in the upper Colorado River basin.

Later, the deputy mayor of Arras, Jean Amoureux, explorer-geologist John Wesley formed parents of children who Powell, who named Flaming Gorge, "dreamed dreams about Twenty youngsters who were aboard the bus belonged to an Arras society called 'Youth and Joy.'"

Locals at AMC Authorize Strike

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Members of the United Auto Workers at American Motors Corp. plants in Kenosha and Milwaukee voted almost unanimously Sunday to authorize their executive boards to call a strike to support demands in a new contract.

Tony L. Russo, president of Local 72 in Kenosha, said that 98 per cent of more than 10,000 members voted the strike authorization. He called the action "the strongest vote we ever had."

In Milwaukee, where only some 4,000 UAW members turned out for a meeting, Local 75 president Joseph J. Wysocki said that "at least 95 per cent" of those voting favored giving the executive board power to call a strike, if necessary.

At Kenosha, virtually were parallel to each other, as first company proposals did in 1961. The union never has accepted as final a first offer from the companies.

Flexible Offer
And Louis G. Eaton, GM vice president — personnel, told the union there was room for "give and take within the dimensions of our economic proposals."

"We are flexible. If the UAW wishes to shift the emphasis from one area to another, or to propose modifications within the

Order Restored in Chicago Suburb After 5-Hour Rioting

More Than 50 Persons Hurt When Automobiles Are Stoned

BY SEYMOUR M. HERSH
DIXMOOR, Ill. (AP) — one thousand angry Negroes rioted for five hours Sunday night before 200 police with shotguns restored order to this predominantly Negro suburb south of Chicago.

More than 50 persons — most of them white — were injured when Negroes stoned them in their autos. Twenty-five Negroes were arrested after the first racial outbreak in the Chicago area this summer.

A Negro and a white man were shot but not seriously injured. At least 39 persons required hospital care. Four were hospitalized in good condition.

7 Children Injured
Seven of the injured were under 10 years old. One was a 7-week-old infant.

At the height of the rioting, police blockaded the six-block area where about 20 autos were stoned. Tear gas bombs were used to break up the mobs.

"There was terrific violence in those streets," said Lt. Mervin Horsmann of the sheriff's police of Cook County. "We expect it to continue."

Sheriff Richard B. Ogilvie, in charge of the policemen at the riot scene, estimated 1,000 Negroes took part. Ogilvie ordered a heavy patrol in the neighborhood to prevent further rioting.

Incident Starts Rioting
Police said the disturbance had been brewing since Saturday night when a Negro woman was accused of trying to steal a bottle of gin from a liquor store. Negroes said the woman was

5 Persons Die in California Crash

MODESTO, Calif. (AP) — Five persons — including a San Francisco man and three of his daughters — were killed Sunday night on Highway 132 west of Modesto in a head-on collision between a truck and a station wagon.

California Highway Patrol officers identified the dead as Raymond Le Duff, 40; his daughters, Diane, 18, Gale Marie, 17, and Cynthia, 7; and Andrew Henson, 51, of Keyes, Calif., driver of a pickup truck.

Le Duff's wife, Dorita, 39, another daughter, Linda Marie, 13, and 7-year-old Melvin Le Duff were seriously injured. Another son, Larry, 16, was the only one of the family of eight to escape unhurt.

Khanh Chosen As President

Prepares to Name Cabinet and Press War Against Reds

BY MALCOLM W. BROWNE
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — With his grip on the government tightened by his election to the presidency, Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh plans to appoint a war cabinet to concentrate on the campaign against the Communists.

Khanh stepped up from premier after South Viet Nam's 62-man military junta approved a new constitution Sunday creating a presidential system with near-dictatorial power for the president in an emergency.

Needs Junta's Approval
The junta placed only one restraint on Khanh. It insisted on a constitutional provision requiring the president to consult with the junta — the Military Revolutionary Council — before issuing decrees.

Asked if he intended to take the role of military dictator, Khanh replied: "For six months I have been head of a totalitarian regime without being totalitarian. I can head a dictatorial regime without being a dictator."

Government sources said Khanh probably will name cabinet members within a week.

A ranking minister commented: "It will be like reshuffling a deck of cards, but all the cards will remain in the deck."

Khanh replaced Maj. Gen. Duong Van Minh, who held the presidency as figurehead chief of state. Although Minh remains of state, he is no longer an adviser to the government. The shakeup removed the popular general from the center of power.

Congressman Says He'll Seek New York Seat in U. S. Senate

NEW YORK (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy flew here unannounced today and immediately conferred with Mayor Robert F. Wagner, presumably about the New York state Democratic nomination for the U.S. Senate.

Amid the growing support for a Kennedy candidacy, Rep. Samuel S. Stratton of upstate Amsterdam formally announced for the nomination. The Kennedy movement's is so evident that Stratton's announcement included an attack on his undeclared opponent.

Stratton said in his announcement Sunday that nominating Kennedy would give the Republicans a "million-dollar issue" for the campaign.

This was a reference to the fact that Kennedy lives in Virginia and maintains a voting residence in his native Massachusetts. Supporters of Kennedy say that, under the U.S. Constitution, he would be eligible to run for the Senate if he established a residence in New York of state. Although Minh remains of state, he is no longer an adviser to the government. The shakeup removed the popular general from the center of power.

Shriver Heads War on Poverty
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson sent to the Senate today the formal nomination of Sargent Shriver as director of the new antipoverty program.

In announcing at a news conference Saturday that he will ask confirmation of the man long slated for the job, Johnson described it as a very important assignment and praised Shriver for an excellent job as director of the Peace Corps.

Shriver is expected to continue as Peace Corps director while handling his new duties. The President said he was asking Shriver to recommend four other key officials in the new agency which require presidential nomination.

Committee Rejects Health Care Projects

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee today rejected two proposals to write a health care for the aged plan into the Social Security system.

It defeated 11-6 the King-Anderson proposal backed by President Johnson and offered in the committee by Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn.

Then it turned down 12-5 a proposal of Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., to allow Social Security beneficiaries to choose a health care plan as an alternative to a substantial 12th boost in cash benefits.

The votes were disclosed by senators leaving a closed committee meeting.

Crews Seem to be Winning Fight to End Nevada Fires

ELKO, Nev. (AP) — Firefighters appeared today to be winning a battle with four large northeastern Nevada range fires which scorched an estimated 170,000 acres of grassland and sagebrush.

A Bureau of Land Management official said three of the blazes were largely controlled overnight. But at last report, a 51,000-acre fire still burned out of control in the rugged, hard-to-reach Boulder Creek area northwest of Elko.

About 900 men were on the fire lines today and 150 more were waiting in Elko to be dispatched.

A half dozen other major blazes burned an additional 13,000 acres in northern and central Nevada Saturday and Sunday. Most were set when a series of lightning-charged thunderstorms crossed the state Saturday.

A Boise, Idaho, pilot was killed Sunday when his plane crashed 20 miles north of Elko. He was returning to Boise after firing a group of firefighters to Elko, seat of a vast cattle and sheep ranching area. Two Elko County ranchers were hospitalized with serious burns suffered as they tried to build a fire line with a bulldozer.

Clair Whitlock, Bureau of Land Management district director, said he hoped all four big fires could be controlled today.

Fire Destroys Pier at Scottish Polaris Base

DUNOON, Scotland (AP) — Flames early today destroyed a 250-yard-long pier serving the U.S. Polaris base in Scotland.

A small lighter, moored alongside the pier, was believed the source of the blaze. The lighter was blown away by a U.S. Navy launch.

The pier is owned by the British navy but has been leased for the past four years for exclusive use by the U.S. Polaris depot. It has been the scene of many antinuclear demonstrations.

Scottish police and Navy security officers commenced an investigation, though one source said there was no immediate suspicion of sabotage.

Former Nazi Forger Now a Payroll Clerk

BY JOHN FIEHN
STUTTGART, Germany (AP)—Twenty years ago the Nazis brought out millions of false English pound notes. Krueger sent word to all Nazi concentration camps that he wanted Jews expert in etching, engraving, and printing. He set up shop at Sachsenhausen concentration camp, a few miles north of Berlin. The counterfeit operation was coded "Operation Bernhard" after the first name of the man who masterminded the gigantic forgery, Bernhard Krueger. A major in the SS, Krueger supervised the production of counterfeit pound sterling, then worth over a half billion dollars. Krueger, never prosecuted, today works as a payroll clerk at an electrical plant here. His employers are not aware of his background, Krueger says. His name popped up when most complete oblivion when the East German publication "The son of a middle class German family, he studied engineering."

Joined Nazis
"The depression during the early '30s made me join the Nazi party. In 1933 I enlisted in the SS. When war broke out, I was in charge of making all sorts of identity papers and passports for the secret agents of the SS abroad," Krueger said. Because of his experience in forgeries, SS Brig. Walter Schellenberg picked Krueger in March 1942 to organize the counterfeiting designed to upset the British economy. Krueger surrendered to the Americans May 5, 1945. After spending eight weeks in a prisoner of war camp at Rastatt, Krueger took his old staff car and drove off. He later turned the car over to the British. "Scotland Yard detectives and Bank of England officials Wednesday that the amount of interrogated me for days. But I on-the-job training in factories was never charged. I was never arrested," Krueger said. This means the 11-year system of primary and secondary education is being reduced to 10 years as it was prior to 1958. The change was announced by the government newspaper Izvestia and is to become effective Sept. 1. The 11-year system and the vocational training program were a pet project of Premier Khrushchev. All students, even berucolosis, Krueger says, ad if they wanted to be scientists or doctors, had to participate in farm or factory work under the program.

Soviet Union Cuts Down Demands on Students for Labor

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union is retreating from its much heralded system of combining education with work experience. The government announced Wednesday that the amount of on-the-job training in factories and on farms is being cut. This means the 11-year system of primary and secondary education is being reduced to 10 years as it was prior to 1958. The change was announced by the government newspaper Izvestia and is to become effective Sept. 1. The 11-year system and the vocational training program were a pet project of Premier Khrushchev. Economic Development Center Is Established

3 Staff Members Assigned to Work
Out of Rented Quarters at Wausau
MADISON (AP)—A contract private groups concerned with the establishment of a center for economic development at Wausau was signed Friday by Gov. John W. Reynolds. The agreement makes the University of Wisconsin, the State Resource Development Department and the Federal Area Redevelopment Administration co-sponsors of the center. The center will operate to stimulate economic growth and employment opportunities in 21 designated counties of northern and central Wisconsin. An $80,000 grant from the Re-development Administration will finance the work for a year, and a spokesman for the Resource Development Department said future grants will be asked. The center will provide professional assistance to individual business firms as well as children vaccinated by order of court.

Children Vaccinated
By Order of Court
MENA, Ark. (AP)—The father of three Arkansas children who were forcibly vaccinated against smallpox said Saturday that he will send his children to school when it opens Aug. 31. A son and two daughters of farmer Archie Cude were vaccinated Friday on orders of the Arkansas Supreme Court, making a long court battle on the issue of state vs. religion. Vaccinations are required by school boards before children can enter school. Cude refused to allow his children to be vaccinated on religious grounds. He said he believed as a result of reading the Bible that medical practice is against the will of God.

To Your Good Health Thyroid Substance Not Advised for Reducing

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: It seems that I will have to take medication for underactive or low thyroid from now on. Will this have a bearing on weight reduction? I enjoy eating. I am 47, weight 150, and am 5 feet 5. I must be 20 pounds overweight. — MRS. E. B. Dr. Molner: Yes, in most (not all) cases it is necessary to keep on taking thyroid substance indefinitely, if your thyroid activity is too low. You thereby make up for the amount not being provided by your thyroid gland. But I advise you to go on the assumption that your thyroid has nothing to do with your weight. It is true that thyroid is used in some weight reduction programs, but for reasons other than being overweight. If you were to take enough of it to lose weight, it would have to be such a large dose that you would be miserable from such side effects as nervousness, insomnia, pounding heart, etc. Crux of Problem You really put the finger on the problem yourself in three words: I enjoy eating. Don't we all? But until you change your eating habits, you will still carry those 20-odd excess pounds around, and probably gain more besides. I don't mean you should not enjoy eating, but that you should take smaller portions, and cut down on fats and sweets which, by and large, are villains. Dear Dr. Molner: Is yogurt safe and non-fattening. And is continual use all right for elderly persons? — MRS. J. C. Yogurt is fermented milk. Sometimes milk solids are added to yogurt, which means that it will have more calories than ordinary milk. It has no mysterious health-giving properties, and costs more than milk. But, like milk, it is an excellent source of calcium and a great many elderly people get too little of this element. Dear Dr. Molner: What is B.H.T.? I notice they are putting it in breakfast foods. I read an article about it that said it was harmful. — F.W.Y. B.H.T. (and BHA is another) is a chemical used in containers of food products to prevent changes from oxidation — in other words, to preserve palatability and appearance. The U.S. Food and Drug Administration has approved the use of these chemicals. That's good enough for me.

Political Adjustment, A Marvel of the Ages

BY J. W. DAVIS
WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the marvels of politics is the way politicians can adjust to situations. Take this Republican unity meeting today at Hershey, Pa. Barry Goldwater, the GOP presidential nominee, sent out the invitations to Republican governors and gubernatorial nominees. And the host is Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania. Just a few weeks ago, Scranton was doing his best to keep the presidential nomination away from Goldwater. He went about the country saying Goldwater should be rejected, that "we need in the White House a leader who thinks clearly, who doesn't shoot from the hip." For another illustration of how a politician can rise above strong words, look at Goldwater himself. Congressman reacted. "Scoundrels, both of them." Then the friend broke down and admitted he had been teasing. He had made up the whole story, that, in fact, Bill and Charlie were both strong for the congressman's re-election. Reproachfully, the congressman told his caller: "Now look what you've done. You've made me say ugly things about two of the finest, sweetest characters who ever lived." James Marlow, who regularly writes this column, is on vacation.

Two persons were injured in a two-car crash at 8:40 p.m. Sunday on U. S. 10-State 114 five miles east of Menasha. Taken to Theda Clark Hospital with neck injuries was Mrs. Walter Babbitz, 41, route 2, Menasha, a passenger in a car driven by her husband, 42. Advised to see a doctor was Kathy DeDecker, 18, 1432 W. Eighth St., Appleton. Miss DeDecker was a passenger in a car driven by Frank J. Krieglstein, 21, 1041 W. Belle Ave., Appleton. Both vehicles were traveling east when the Krieglstein auto struck the Babbitz auto from behind. Calumet County police said. Krieglstein told police he had passed another car and his brakes failed when he attempted to slow down after returning to the right lane. Damage was estimated at $750.

Thieves Active as Italian Holiday Starts

ROME (AP) — Millions of Italians streamed to mountain and shore resorts Saturday as the nation began its traditional mid-August festival. But the thieves, as usual, stayed behind — to work. The holiday always means special temptation for thieves because so many homes and apartments are left untended. Extra police were put on duty and the Italian army assigned men to beef up antiburglar police squads in the major cities.

'Profiles in Courage' Is Hour-Long Series

Based on Kennedy Book, Program Has Strict Controls on Scripts, Casting

BY BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — One new television series will start its season well after the rest of the pack. "Profiles in Courage" will not debut until Nov. 8, because that's the way the late President John F. Kennedy wanted it.

After Kennedy's election to the presidency, many producers sought his best-selling book about moral courage in American politics as basis for a series. But not until Robert Sauer made an inquiry did Kennedy begin serious consideration. He had made two appearances as a senator on Sauer's "Om-nibus."

Close Kennedy Control

Kennedy established stringent terms for the series — approval of script, final film, casting, director, even the press releases. And to avoid any political repercussions, the series was not to go on the air until after the 1964 elections.

Sauer and NBC have continued to follow Kennedy's instructions since his death. All details of the hour films are cleared with the estate. The scripts are reviewed by former Kennedy aide Theodore C. Sorenson, who will receive screen credit.

Brothers 'Estatic'

"Bob Kennedy has seen two of the finished films," reports Michael Ritchie, associate to producer Gordon Oliver. "Ted Kennedy has seen four or five of them, and both are ecstatic over the results."

Tall, bespectacled Ritchie, who looks like a Harvard history student — which he was four

Jackie Gleason Sets Formula for Success Of Pay Television

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Jackie Gleason says there's one way pay TV can show a profit. "First you hire some bum and give him $50 and let him read a book on dahlias growing.

"Now there's got to be a couple million dahlias in this country who will pay a buck to hear this guy — after he's been properly exploited as a dahlias expert."

"I know because I once knew a guy who grew dahlias. He was as nuts about dahlias as I am about booze. He used to pay $5 to hear lectures on dahlias. Once he drove from Peekskill to Albany for a dahlias lecture.

"Now, are you going to tell me that this guy — and thousands like him — aren't going to pay a buck and hear a lecture on dahlias in their own living room?"

Tourists Too Busy To Recognize Stars

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Doris Day tells this one on herself. She drove up a Beverly Hills street and stopped at a signal light. Seated at the wheel of the next car was Rock Hudson.

"Behind me was an out-of-state car with tourists looking for movie star homes. I yelled, 'give them your best profile, Rock,' and pointed to the out-of-state car.

"He did and, you know, the tourists didn't give either of us a tumble. They didn't recognize us. They were much too busy looking at their maps of movie star homes."

'Families' Feted at Iranian Party

Fox Cities 'Families' of the Iranian young people visiting under the Experiment in International Living were entertained at an Iranian dinner Saturday evening at the home of Mrs. Leland Knoke, Ten young college graduates from Iran and their leader entertained their Fox Cities "families" at a dinner party Saturday evening at the home of Mrs. Leland Knoke, 523 N. Linwood Ave. The group is Appleton's first foreign guests under the Experiment in International Living program.

The national food of Iran relies on rice as a base. Preparation of the food is an elaborate art rather than just cooking. Each dish takes a long time to prepare.

The main course consisted of chelo - kebab which is a dish of white rice served with skewers of kebabs. The group served dolmeh which are green peppers, egg plants or tomatoes stuffed with rice, minced meat, split peas and herbs.

The national soup, abgusht, was made up of large pieces of boiled meat (usually lamb), potatoes, white beans, yellow peas, dried whole lemons, tomatoes and seasonings.

The Iranians spent most of Saturday preparing the food which was served at the 6:30 p.m. dinner.

Dressed in Their Native costume for their party Saturday evening are Miss Daneshgar, Miss Naz-Pari Azarm and Miss Firoozeh Yeganegi. (Post - Crescent Photos)

Women of Iran Gaining Equal Status With Men

BY SENA GRAY Post-Crescent Staff Writer
"Most of us here and other women of Iran feel that we owe a lot to the present Shah and the Pahlvi Monarchy," emphasizes Miss Firoozeh Yeganegi, it, Miss Yeganegi proudly the group leader of ten Iranian smiles.

Now Iranian women and men are educated on an equal basis about a law of equality for and they compete with other women a year and a half ago Yeganegi says. She notes that since the difference is notable, many women have higher positions than the men. The man-aging director of the Department six have been elected to Parli-ment. The present Shah's father forbid his country's women to wear Moslem veils. "A few of the religious classes and very old women still wear them though," Miss Yeganegi says. "Three women of the royal family are leading activities and its not hard for women to follow," comments Miss Yeganegi. One is active in social work and civil rights for women; another in charity, and the queen in children's activities and orphanages.

Miss Yeganegi, who was educated in England for 10 years, is a vice president in the Department of Water and Electricity. "Not only older women hold jobs, if you prove yourself there is no difference," Miss Yeganegi is 28 years old.

Comparison Hard Because of the great difference in culture and tradition between the United States and Iran, Miss Yeganegi finds it hard to compare the two. Iran's history is 7,000 years old. Neurological Exam Advised In Unusual Behavior Case

Dear Dr. Jones: Is it possible occasionally she just stops whatever for a child to limp and to have she's doing, looks blank for a attacks of going blank if there few minutes, drops whatever she has in her hands, and stays motionless and silent for a few seconds. Then she "comes to" and everything is the same as it was before.

I pay very careful attention to my three-year-old daughter's health because she was my first healthy baby after I had lost three others during pregnancy. And the physician who has cared for her all her life says that she's perfectly healthy.

Dear Dr. Jones: I have a four-year-old boy who will be five in two months. He is a very smart boy when he wants to be but he has got his mind completely set about not going to school the year after this when he'll be ready for first grade. Both my husband and I will try to teach him something, but he doesn't want to learn at all. He just doesn't seem interested. There isn't a regular kindergarten here, so we don't know what to do to try to prepare him for school.

Don't worry about "preparing" him intellectually for school or trying to teach him how to play with his toys and games. Instead, concentrate on making certain he has the emotional development and control necessary to handle the classroom routine.

Dr. Jones replies personally to every letter she receives from her readers. Send your question, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Dr. Eve Jones, care of Appleton Post-Crescent.

MAIL CALL

Dear Taffy: I am fourteen, tall, and I think rather pretty. I read every fashion magazine I can get my hands on and some day am determined to be a model. I don't dare even talk to my mother about it as I once brought it up and she didn't agree with me, but no one will ever talk me out of trying to be a model when I get out of high school. I dream of it all the time and it's the only thing that I really want out of life—just to be a Model.

Please give me any advice you can on what to do.

Sincerely, Determined
Dear Determined: With determination you can do almost anything—make almost any career for yourself and there's no limit ever to just how far you can go. And, if you think you can be a model some day and refuse to give up the idea, you may make it. I would never think of discouraging you in any way. But may I point out the facts on modeling as a career? This week's columns will be devoted to facts and figures on the subject. Keep happy. Taffy

Substitute Honey In Jams, Jellies

Can you use honey in making jams and jellies?

In making any jelly where you don't add pectin, like apple or plum, you can substitute honey for one-half the amount of sugar called for in the recipe. The jelly or jam may be a little darker in color and the flavor may be slightly different.

In recipes that call for pectin and make about a dozen glasses of jam or jelly you can use two cups of honey to replace sugar. These recipes usually call for about seven cups of sugar, which you would change to five cups sugar and two cups honey.

Luci Johnson Loves Barbecue; State Fair

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — attention than any fair exhibit Luci Baines Johnson, the President's younger daughter, moved from barbecue pit politicking to the natural role of excited teenager in a whirlwind visit during the weekend.

Miss Johnson, 17, appeared at ease with all company. However, there was little question that she enjoyed herself the most during a visit Sunday to the Wisconsin State Fair.

Although she attracted more

The high spot was the midway, which was not on her schedule. After some pleading, she was granted Secret Service permission to take a ride on one of the fast-moving amusements.

She wound up by taking rides on the calypso, the zig zag, the tilt-a-whirl and the octopus.

Miss Johnson flew into Milwaukee Saturday and toured the Marquette University campus.

Later she gave her support to the barbecue pit style of politics popularized by her father.

She mingled with 856 diners, who paid $10 per person to attend the LBJ barbecue at the North River Racquet Club. Officials said 993 tickets were sold, plus other contributions.

The barbecue was the third of six being held throughout the country by the Young Citizens for Johnson Committee. However, Luci denied she was campaigning.

"I'm just here to thank people who have been working for someone I'm very fond of," Miss Johnson said.

The All Saints' Episcopal Church annual summer theatre party took place Wednesday evening. Visiting at the 6 p.m. dinner at Alex's Manor House are Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Falstad and Mr. and Mrs.

Robert Green. After the dinner, the group attended the Attic Theatre presentation of "The Glass Menagerie." (Post-Crescent Photo)

Live Within Your Income

Good Income Earner Still Wants High School Diploma

BY MARY FEELEY

Consultant in Money Management

Dear Miss Feeley: My husband, in his early fifties, has had a very good job with the same company for over 20 years, and a salary of $11,960 yearly. We do not think this is bad since he only completed the eighth grade.

When he is being transferred from job to job, papers have to be filled out as to education. To him it is very embarrassing to state the grade he has completed. It is too late for him to go back to high school. What do you think of the home study courses? We have found one for $150. After completing the course he can obtain a diploma.

Would this be the best thing he could do? Could this be used for the purpose he wants? Do you think it worth the price?

Mrs. F. K. M., San Antonio

Dear Mrs. M.: I wish all the voluntary high school dropouts could read your letter and hear your husband say that even a good salary doesn't make up for the education he didn't have. He has indeed done well, with the handicap of only an eighth grade schooling. But employers are more demanding today than they were when your husband started out in business. The real opportunities are offered to high school and college graduates. Ambition alone is just not enough.

Labor Secretary Wirtz has estimated that some 350,000 youngsters are unemployed today and will be for the rest of their lives—dropouts. Those who constitute, as he puts it, "the outlaw pack," aren't even looking for work anymore. Hundreds of thousands of other young people—dropouts also—are actively seeking jobs but can't find them. Eventually the dropout's problem surpasses that of money alone—his pride takes a painful beating.

But let's get to your specific problem. The board of education in your city offers adults an individual study type program. After receiving your letter I talked to the director of this program. He tells me that each semester consists of four courses lasting three months.

The first step is to determine the educational background of the individual, and then work with him to help him complete the prescribed program, one semester at a time. A diploma, equivalent to a regular high school diploma, is given when the work is completed. The cost of this is $36 for each semester.

Other readers may be interested to know that somewhat similar programs for adults are available in many cities—for instance, in New York City through the board of education's adult high school department, and in Chicago through the office of the county superintendent of schools which will supply information on the proper procedure.

Of course, a correspondence course from a reliable school can accomplish the same thing. Your husband would get a high school diploma when he completed the courses satisfactorily. I realize the cost is not the important thing for either one of you, so it doesn't really matter how he completes his high school education. I simply mention what your local facilities are better because they might offer some advantages. I think personal contact with an instructor can provide inspiration and encouragement that would be very valuable to anyone who has been out of school for many years. On the other hand, home study courses, have an appeal for the individual whose age might be far beyond that of the majority of students in a classroom.

However your husband decides to finish his schooling, I congratulate him for taking this important step. You ask me if the time and effort involved are worth the price. I say, yes!

Dear Miss Feeley: We are a couple in our late 40's, with one son. I want very much for us to have a will made out, especially before our vacation comes up.

I want to go to a lawyer and have one made up, but my husband wants some information first. Could you enlighten us, or perhaps suggest some reading matter for us on the making of wills.

Mrs. E. G., Chicago

Dear Mrs. G.: I suggest you and your husband discuss in detail just what you want your wills to accomplish. It's assuming you will both have wills drawn up. Agree on how you want to dispose of your property, whom you wish to remember in your wills, settle the matter of a guardian for your son if his age requires one. Write down any questions you will want to take up with your lawyer. Then go to see him and explain what you have in mind. He will draw up both wills so they will carry out your wishes. Your local library undoubtedly has a number of books on the subject of wills, written for the layman, which you might find of interest.

You can write Mary Feeley in care of Appleton Post-Crescent. She answers questions of widest interest in her columns.

Efficient Counters

Counter surfaces in baths and kitchens should be efficient as well as colorful. "Efficient" means the countertop should be surfaced with a material such as ceramic tile that will withstand nearly any kind of tough household treatment. Home-makers can now have an extra bonus with their ceramic tile countertops thanks to scientific research. An epoxy grouting material has been developed (to fill the joints between individual tiles) that is impervious to nearly all household stains.

A Lovelier You

Shape Makers

Not all figure problems result from over-weight. You can get out of shape from a long spell of physical inactivity from lazing in a deck chair to slaving in a desk chair.

The telltale is a thickening of the hips, waist and thighs, accompanied by a general loss of flesh and muscle tone. If you have those symptoms — even one of them — the day of reckoning is now. Put off a conditioning program, and you can't hope to look your trimmest self come fall.

The program is easy; it trims and tones for one effort:

1. Stand arms length behind a sturdy chair and grasp it. Bending forward, touch knee to nose; then slowly swing leg back and up, as you arch back and lift head to erect position. Repeat ten times, working to stretch leg, waist and neck. Give other side same workout.

2. Lie back down on floor; bend knees until soles of feet rest on floor. Now raise buttocks and support with hands. Contract abdomen — really pull in — and hold for ten slow counts. Relax and repeat ten times.

3. Standing tall, fling arms diagonally up and out. Very slowly rotate arms so that palms face, then knuckles. Continue for twenty counts. Meanwhile keep head pulled straight up, to make a taut column of neck.

For a set of quick and effective ones, send for my leaflet, Hip Reducing Routines. Write Mary Sue Miller in care of Appleton Post-Crescent, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and five cents in coin to cover handling.

Priest Says Birth Control Essential for Survival

NEW YORK — Birth control is essential to the ultimate survival of all mankind, according to an article by a prominent Catholic clergyman in the current issue of a magazine.

"The population explosion, as a world threat, is second only to the danger of nuclear war," warns the Rev. John A. O'Brien, Research Professor of Theology at the University of Notre Dame.

"The rate of population increase is now three times the rate of growth of production," points out the Rev. O'Brien. "One-half the people of the world already suffer from outright hunger and two-thirds from under-nourishment," he continues. "Yet the world population still increases by 50 million people per year."

A distinguished panel of demographers, population experts, drew up a list of measures needed to improve the situation, including increasing sources of food supply, increasing industrialization, and migration from more to less - crowded areas. However, all agreed that these measures are doomed to failure unless they can be integrated with a positive program of birth control.

Square Foot Per Person

A grim look into the future, based on a projection of the present rate of population growth for 650 years, would leave one square foot of land for each human being, launched a comprehensive study.

The problem is sharply defined by human reproduction. Heed in a Statement of Conviction issued by 39 Nobel Prize discover new methods of regulation and presented to the United Nations a few years ago. In part, the report explains that in spite of technologically acceptable to all.

gical advances, the earth will shortly be unable to provide enough food and minerals for its growing population, and that unless a favorable balance of population and resources is achieved through a program of birth control, a Dark Age of human misery, famine, under-education and unrest would result, which would lead inevitably to wars fought to appropriate the dwindling means of survival.

The Rev. O'Brien says in the magazine article, that he is hopeful that the solution will come from the National Institutes of Health, which have launched a comprehensive study of human reproduction. He said in a Statement of Conviction issued by 39 Nobel Prize discover new methods of regulation and presented to the United Nations a few years ago. Girl Asks Arguments to Help Her Win Decision for Chastity

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a girl, 18, and I hope you will not think I am bragging when I tell you I am beautiful. If God had given me a little less beauty and a few more brains I would be a lot better off.

Since I was 15 I have been out-talked and out-maneuvered by at least a half dozen smoothies. I am truly ashamed of myself.

My first serious boy friend was captain of the debating team and I didn't stand a chance. He was so persuasive, I couldn't think of a single argument for my side.

The second fellow was a science major who kept arguing that in this age of nuclear fission I might be blown to bits before I had a chance to live. You can see, Ann, how this sort of talk could make a girl figure, oh well.

Please give me some good arguments. I am tired of being the loser—No Match for Them.

Dear No Match: Where did you get the idea that you must win a debate in order to hang on to what belongs to you in the first place?

A girl needn't be a trial lawyer or an atomic scientist to say "Look, Buster, I'm not a plaything. The answer is no so save your breath to cool your soup."

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Will you please print this letter to help out all kids whose fathers work in banks?

I am 14 years old and my father is the vice-president of a bank. I'd like to make it plain that my dad doesn't own the bank—he only works there.

The kids at school have the idea that just because my dad works in a bank I am a rich kid. The way they talk you'd think my dad can go into the bank and help himself to money any time he feels like it.

Last week a bunch of us were planning a picnic to pay back the girls who took us to a theater party in May.

We were short of money and one of the kids said, "Carlton can get it from his old man's bank."

Please, Ann Landers, tell people that bank officers are on a salary just like truck drivers, and sometimes the salary isn't as big as they think. — Not Rich

Dear Not Rich: For all you kids who think people who work in banks can take home samples I'd like to tell you this: If they ever tried it they'd have to answer to the bank examiners who check periodically to make sure bank employees don't get to thinking like the kids at school

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Arnie and I were married four months ago and we moved to this big city. The thought of a big city frightened me but it was a pro-

Doing Best Still Tops Complaints

One of the advantages of living in a free country is that you can bid your hand as you please. If an opponent doesn't like your bidding you can tell him to go climb a tree. (Players who can't climb shouldn't complain about an opponent's bidding.)

Declarer won the first trick with dummy's queen of hearts and beamed with approval of what he saw in the dummy.

There wasn't a thing to worry about, he decided, as he led a trump from dummy.

East stepped up with the ace of clubs and shot back his singleton spade. West took the ace of spades and returned a spade, whereupon East's ruff defeated the contract.

South was overwhelmed by West's timidity. "Eight spades in his hand," South complained, "and he got up enough nerve to bid one spade. Whoever taught him to bid was taking money under false pretenses. Why, I have a five-week-old puppy that would know enough to bid four spades on that hand!"

It's true that West could make four spades, but South could make five clubs by playing the hand well. What's more, South could score more for making his contract than for proving that West hadn't bid enough.

Discard Spade
South should meet the only possible threat by discarding a spade from dummy. At the second trick declarer cashes the ace of diamonds, then ruffs a diamond to lead the ace of hearts.

West ruffs, and dummy over-ruffs. Declarer ruffs another diamond and leads the king of hearts. If West can ruff again, dummy can over-ruff and there will be no further threat with the removal of the last low trump from the East-West hands.

Actually, West cannot ruff the king of hearts. Declarer discards a spade from dummy, and the hand is over. The defenders can get their two black aces but nothing else.

Whenever we are in a group, my heart pounds and I get indigestion. Sometimes I have to go to the ladies room and loosen my clothing. Tell me please how to get confidence in myself. I'm losing weight and not feeling well. — Inadequate Wife

Dear Wife: See a doctor and get a complete physical check-up. If there is nothing organically wrong with you, you must then accept the fact that you have an emotional problem. The discomfort you describe may well be symptoms of anxiety.

Spice Asks Stricter Prisoner Control

Would Search Inmates Closely, Require Special Jail Uniforms

A bottle of shaving lotion wrapped in a sock and carried in the back pocket of a prisoner in the Outagamie County jail Sunday brought a request today from Sheriff Calvin Spice for more strict control of prisoners.

Spice said he will ask the county's courts and administration committee to study a plan for subjecting prisoners to "strip down" examinations and the purchase of uniforms to wear while in confinement.

Prisoners are subject to search when they enter the jail lockup section after reporting from their Huber law jobs. However, they wear the same clothing to and from work as they wear while in confinement.

Disarmed Prisoners

Sunday Spice said he took a sock which contained a bottle of shaving lotion from two prisoners. Spice said the prisoners were not allowed outside the jail.

on Huber law privileges and the shaving lotion was "smuggled to them."

Shaving equipment is controlled for prisoners not on Huber law. Huber law prisoners keep the equipment in their lockers. Prisoners not on Huber law seldom come into contact with the Huber law prisoners.

Spice would not say how he learned the men had the lotion wrapped in the sock, but that he went to the jail about 7:30 p.m. Sunday, saw the two men together and searched them.

Identifies Prisoners

Spice has identified the prisoners as Ronald Granger, 23, of Evansville, Ind., being held on parole violation, and Ronald Smith, 25, 225 E. Murray St., who is serving a term for driving after revocation.

Both men have been placed in solitary confinement. Spice said neither worked outside of the jail.

Two weeks ago two youths being held in the jail jumped a jailer in an unsuccessful escape attempt.

Spice said under a strict "shake down" plan, the prisoners would be ordered undressed when they reported to the jail from their outside job. Then they would be given a one-piece, belted uniform to wear during their confinement. When the prisoners leave the jail for various reasons, they would dress again in regular clothing.

Planning Unit Refuses Dairy Rezoning Bid

Won't Grant Permit for Quaker Co. Expansion

A request by the management of Quaker Dairy to rezone property at 303 E. Lincoln St. to permit construction of a new, enlarged store was denied today by the Appleton Plan Commission.

Ben Cherkasky had petitioned that the property on which an old house is situated be rezoned from residential to local business.

The house is adjacent to his present store at 1112 S. Madison St.

Spikes Rumors

Cherkasky, spiking rumors that he would erect a cheese factory, said his firm intended to raze both the house and present store and construct a new, modern store.

"We would not put anything up there that would be offensive," Cherkasky said. "We want to get along with our neighbors and have them do business with us."

Residents in the area sent a petition to the commission objecting to rezoning. They said the neighborhood was residential and wanted no part of an expanding business.

Lower Property Values

Some claimed the proposed new store, replacing the existing older building, would lower property values.

Originally, Quaker Dairy's request was for commercial-light manufacturing zoning but Cherkasky told the commission this was in error.

As result of the commission's action, Cherkasky could still build a new store on the present location but will be unable to expand as planned.

Ald. E. V. Krueger (11th) objected to the rezoning. "I am opposed to any light manufacturing on the south side of the river because the area is residential by natural character," he said.

Denies Request

The commission also: —Denied a request by Mrs. Mabel Spoerl to vacate West Second Street from Bounds Street to the west city limits. Ald. Mrs. Dorothy Stillings (17th) registered objection to the proposal.

—Recommended purchase of additional land for the proposed new senior high school on the southside.

—Denied a request to waive apollois and Florida. aren't re the rear yard requirement at 1210 N. Appleton St.

Changes Due for Outagamie Patrol if Report Is Adopted

Recommendations of Efficiency Firm Heard at Meeting Today

There were further indications today the Outagamie County Traffic Patrol is due for major changes if the county board accepts a Chicago efficiency firm's recommendations.

Supervisors in a special meeting today heard the firm's recommendations may include:

Increasing of patrol staff to assure protection for the county will be on a 24-hour basis.

That the county must adopt a county-owned patrol car policy.

Pay Raises

That raises must be made for patrolmen to assure top men for the job.

That changes are due in the radio department.

The recommendations will be presented to a special non-decision making committee of supervisors which is scheduled to meet with the J. L. Jacobs Co. representative Thursday.

County officials who have worked closely with the Jacobs Co. told supervisors the firm's report will be "as specific as you make it." The efficiency study of the county law enforcement agencies is "sufficiently complete to make a comprehensive oral report by Thursday to the committee, the official said.

Members of the county's traffic committee and the civil service and salary committee were meeting to examine progress made on a study on county-owned police patrol cars.

Urges Resolution

The civil service and salary committee last week opened its study of the matter to the traffic committee and has urged the traffic committee offer a resolution to the county board for adoption of a county-car.

Norman Austin, chairman of the traffic committee, said the program would require more study. He did not estimate when such recommendations could be made to the county board. He said the figures supplied by the civil service and salary committee would be studied further.

Austin said primary consideration for the department would be the hiring of more help to bolster the 11-man department, and to increase salaries for beginning patrolmen.

A further meeting between the two committees is expected.

Reserve Unit Back From Army Training Camp

Appleton Army Reservists returned home Saturday after completing two weeks of combat engineer and field training at Camp McCoy.

The 84 men and officers are members of Co. C of the 291st Combat Engineer Battalion. Capt. Harry L. Spiegelberg, 36 West Court, commands the unit.

The engineer company worked on a road building project, including the use of a 1,200-pound explosive to blast bedrock.

Other training included use of the Army's new M-14 rifle, M-60 machine gun and bridge building.

The battalion, which had 456 men in training at the camp, has its headquarters in Racine and other units in Green Bay and Fond du Lac.

The battalion commander, Maj. Robert E. Cooke, Beaver Dam, said the outstanding initiative and effort of headquarters company was repeated in the high ratings given the Appleton unit by evaluation teams from the Fifth Army.

Injured in the car was Miss Susan Kay Everts, 15, Ogdensburg, the driver, bruises to the eye, and Lloyd Young, 43, route 2, New London, the tractor driver, back and neck injuries.

The collision occurred as Miss Everts attempted to pass the tractor and struck a spreader being towed by the tractor.

Crime Doesn't Pay For Thief Who Took 30 Homing Pigeons

He who said "crime doesn't pay" had this crime in mind: Sheriff investigators are seeking a thief who Sunday reportedly stole 30 homing pigeons valued at $400 to $500.

Authorities said if the thief releases the birds, they will return to their owner, Gerhard Kaniess, route 1, Appleton.

In fact, while making his getaway, the thief inadvertently let loose about five of the birds, authorities said. The pigeons returned to the scene of the crime.

Ask County to Pay $9,500 for Survey

Appleton Plan Unit Approves Resolution Requesting Money For Initial Expressway Costs

A resolution requesting the Outagamie County Board to appropriate $9,500 for a three-county expressway route survey was approved today by the Appleton Plan Commission.

It will go to the common council Wednesday night where adoption should be a formality.

The resolution was suggested by the Fox Valley Regional Plan Commission following a meeting of its board of directors July 8.

All municipalities holding membership in the regional commission have been requested to approve similar resolutions which will be referred to county boards in Outagamie, Calumet and Winnebago counties.

Done By State

Gene Franchett, regional planning director, explained the field work for the survey would be done by staff engineers of the Wisconsin Highway Commission.

"They have the men available to survey the proposed expressway routes in the three counties and have estimated the cost for each," Franchett told the commission.

Outagamie will be paying the most because 9.4 miles of expressway route would pass through the county.

Winnebago County, with slightly more than five miles, would be assessed $6,500, and Calumet County's 2.3 miles of expressway will cost about $2,800 to survey, Franchett said.

Communities along the expressway route have already put the tentative route on their respective official maps.

Purpose of Survey

The purpose of the survey, according to Franchett, will be to determine the precise right-of-way for the expressway which will skirt the southern tip of Appleton.

The requests for funds are being made now so county boards will be able to include the allocations in 1965 budgets.

City Planner Walter Rasmussen told the plan commissioners that he recommended adoption of the resolution.

In other action, the commission voted to okay an expenditure of $15,000 for preparation of a comprehensive plan of the city by a St. Louis firm.

It will take two years to complete the project, which is costing over $100,000. Appleton's share of the expense will be $30,000, with the state federal government paying the remainder under terms of a 701 grant.

'Barr' the Door — Here They Come!

Women Passengers With Same Last Name Cause Double Trouble

CLINTONVILLE—North Central Flight 456 landed here at 8:15 a.m. today, picked up Miss Barr, who was going to Chicago, and left early on its hop to Appleton.

Five minutes later the plane made a sharp bank and landed again at Clintonville—to pick up Mrs. Barr, who was going to Chicago.

The two women, from Minneapolis and Florida, aren't related.

When the two passengers with the same name chose to end visits to friends in the Clintonville area on the same morning, they brought "double trouble" to North Central station manager Roman Ritchie and an unscheduled landing and takeoff to the DC-3 passengers.

Checked In First

Miss M. L. Barr of Minneapolis, who had been visiting friends at Clover Leaf Lakes, checked in first this morning. She boarded the flight, which had arrived early from Minneapolis, and the plane took off several minutes ahead of schedule. The stewardess announced the flight would reach Appleton in 20 minutes.

Meanwhile, back at the airport, Mrs. James Barr, a Florida woman who had been visiting at Shawano Lake, watched horrified as her plane flew away.

Realizing the error, Ritchie called back the plane to pick its second passenger named Barr, and the flight took off again, on schedule. It arrived in Appleton on time.

Only Last Names

Only last names are used in records of reservations, with no "Mrs." or "Miss" the station manager explained. When Miss Barr called to reconfirm her reservation, "Barr" was already on the list.

"You'll never believe this," Ritchie told the stewardess when he opened the plane door the second time.

Both landings at Clintonville were very smooth.

Appleton Man Fined $250 for Speeding, Not Having License

OSHKOSH — Donald Vanden Heuvel, 23, 165 Foster St., Appleton, was fined $250 Monday by Judge James Sarres after he pleaded guilty of driving after revocation of his license and of speeding 34 miles an hour in a 25 mile an hour zone.

Vanden Heuvel was arrested at 10:45 p.m. Sunday by Menasha police at Ninth and Racine streets. He was fined $200 on the first charge and $50 on the speeding offense.

Hearings Begin on Democrat Platform

Rusk Tells Committee U. S. On 'Right Track' at Present

BY EDMOND LEBRETON
WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk warned today against "reckless words or deeds" while telling the Democratic platform writers "we do approach our problems soberly and responsibly."

With this claim of balance in the pursuit of foreign affairs, Rusk launched the platform committee's formal work of writing a party declaration for the presidential campaign.

A roaring debate over foreign policy seems assured. The Republican platform charges the Johnson administration with "weakness before communism" while some Democratic spokesmen have said a Goldwater administration foreign policy would be dangerously impulsive.

Prepared Testimony

Rusk never mentioned Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, the Republican presidential nominee, in his prepared testimony.

"President Kennedy faced the missiles in Cuba and President Johnson the attacks on American naval vessels in the Gulf of Tonkin," Rusk said. "We do not draw back from the confrontation between the free world and the world of coercion."

He went on: "Only once in history, in October 1962, (the date of the Cuba missile crisis) have nuclear powers come face to face with imminent possibility of nuclear exchange."

"It is not an experience to be lightly repeated."

Insisting that "our basic national policies are producing good results," Rusk said: "This is no time either to quit, or to indulge in reckless deeds or words which would cost us the confidence of both allies and other free nations and stimulate irrational action by our adversaries."

Right Track

"Under President Lyndon B. Johnson, we are on the right track. Let us keep on it," Rusk said this country wants "victory for peace and freedom." But, he said, it must be won without a great war if possible — "The devastation of a nuclear war is not the sort of 'victory' we want."

"Therefore," the secretary continued, "our policy toward our Communist adversaries is something more than implacable hostility. We must stop Communist aggression. At the same time, we must seek areas of common interest and mutual advantage."

"We must also do what we can to encourage trends toward independent and more open societies within the Communist world."

He went on: "Only once in history, in October 1962, (the date of the Cuba missile crisis) have nuclear powers come face to face with imminent possibility of nuclear exchange."

"It is not an experience to be lightly repeated."

Insisting that "our basic national policies are producing good results," Rusk said: "This is no time either to quit, or to indulge in reckless deeds or words which would cost us the confidence of both allies and other free nations and stimulate irrational action by our adversaries."

Goldwater Is Expected in State Twice

Indonesia Lands Force on Malaya

BY TONY ESCODA
KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — A small force of Indonesians has landed on the swampy west coast of Malaya, the Malaysian government announced today. It called the landings a small-scale invasion and said it would inform the U.N. Security Council.

Abdul Razak, deputy prime minister, said a force of 30 to 40 Indonesians and a few Malaysians landed Sunday night in southern Johore State and that 13 were captured after a clash with police and troops. One Malaysian trooper was wounded.

Security Tightened

Security measures were tightened in nearby Malacca and Negri Sembilan states. Razak said the Indonesian party came about 30 miles across Malacca Strait in outboard motor boats.

Calling the landing an act of aggression, Razak said that while the U.N. Security Council would be informed, the government did not plan to make any immediate request for U.N. action.

Indonesia has vowed to crush the British-backed federation of Malaysia which was formed last September out of Malaya, Singapore and the former British Borneo territories of Sarawak and North Borneo, now called Sabah.

Peterson said Dean Burch, Republican national chairman, told him at a campaign workshop in Washington, D.C., the senator would "probably" tour the state in late September and again in late October.

Running Mate

Wisconsin voters also will get a first-hand look at Goldwater's running mate, Rep. William E. Miller. But the number and dates of the vice presidential candidate's visits have not been scheduled, Peterson said.

Peterson said he was told that any changes in Goldwater's Wisconsin campaign plans would lead towards more exposure in the state rather than cutting down campaigning.

Goldwater was expected to swing through appearances in Wisconsin's smaller communities, topping off the day with a major speech in Milwaukee.

Major Role

Peterson said a major role in the Wisconsin campaign will be held by Lucius Chase Kohler, vice-president and counsel for the Kohler Co. and a member of the state Republican Finance Committee.

Kohler will head Wisconsin fund raising efforts for The Citizens for Goldwater and Miller, an organization now being established, Peterson said.

Surrounded by His Happy Family, Greg Schumacher receives the trophy as the 1964 All-American Soap Box Derby champion and congratulations from Semon E. A $7,500 scholarship went with the trophy.

Pianist Brilliant

John Browning Star Of Festival Weekend

BY JACK RUDOLPH
Post-Crescent News Service
FISH CREEK — John Browning dramatically vindicated his selection as the Peninsula Music Festival's third Vera Warner Dougan award artist Sunday afternoon at Gibraltar High School when he presented a passionately brilliant performance of the Prokofiev Third Piano Concerto.

It was a glittering climax to a musical weekend of interesting and highly artistic variety that needed just such a touch to give it dash.

Aside from Browning's whirlwind finale, the double program had a little bit of everything. Soprano Joyce Weibel and Jay Willoughby, baritone, made Saturday night debuts. The evening also included the first public performance of Cecil Effinger's Trio Concertante for Trumpet, Horn and Trombone, written for this year's festival.

The piece started well, showed a lot of early spirit, considerable ingenuity and intricate rhythm but failed to maintain momentum. Part of the trouble may have been in playing at without pause. Breaks between movements might have given them heightened emphasis.

The orchestra, under Dr. Thor Johnson, began to show its real potential, playing with crisp precision, delicate sensitivity and authoritative bite when called upon. Support for the numerous soloists and ensembles was uniformly excellent.

Some time during the first half of Sunday afternoon's program a short, brisk shower swept over Gibraltar High School. Few inside the hall were aware of it, but the little storm was prophetic.

Standing Ovation

In the second half pianist John Browning took charge, whipping Serge Prokofiev's vigorous Piano Concerto No. 3 into a tornado of crashing sound and rhythm that brought the audience to its feet in the first standing ovation of the festival. Coming on the heels of his stunning performance of Beethoven's "Emperor" Wednesday night, the popular young artist created an impact unequalled by any other pianist in years.

Until Browning unleashed his pianistic thunderbolt the afternoon had been artistically excellent but emotionally tepid. Dr. Thor Johnson had led the rapidly coalescing orchestra through two richly melodic numbers without stirring up much excitement.

Dark-haired Joyce Weibel, a tall and slender young soprano with a rich, bright voice of impressive potential, became the first graduate of the Peninsula Music Festival's Young People's Concerts to return as a professional guest artist Saturday night. The Brodhead girl who sang here as a high school sophomore eight years ago was the major attraction of an evening of exceptional variety.

The young singer, on the threshold of what can be a highly successful career, met the homecoming challenge head-on. She didn't have to pick anything as tough as "La Traviata" but having done so she poured everything she had into it.

However, she lacks experience. She sang earnestly and with great care but never got beneath the surface of "Ah, Fors e Lui" and "Sempere Libera."

The same criticisms—except inexperience—can be applied to baritone Jay Willoughby, who made his Fish Creek debut with Miss Weibel. He has a resonant, meticulously trained voice of much warmth which he manipulates with almost casual ease.

In his solo aria "Di Provenze il Mar," however, he betrayed the same weakness. It was surface smooth but lacked the emotional depth of a concerned father pleading with a wayward son.

Foxes Lose Twice
To Clinton, Retain
3-Game ML Lead
C-Sox Author 4-2, 11-4 Victories;
Begin Road Trip at Burlington

BY MIKE WALTER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer
Clinton finally caught up with the Foxes Sunday afternoon.
Fox Cities had won seven straight from the C-Sox dating back to June 15 but succumbed twice in yesterday's split doubleheader.

Burlington for a 2-game series beginning tonight. Sparky Lyle is expected to be Billy DeMars' pitching choice.
3-Week Layoff
Tim Sommer started everything off right for the Foxes in the first game, returning after a 3-week layoff and hurling perfect ball for five innings.

In the ninth, however, with the Foxes clinging to a 2-0 lead, things started happening right for the C-Sox. Don Welsh, a thorn in the Foxes' sides all day, led off with a solid single to left and advanced to second on a passed ball.
With one out, right fielder Fred Rico lost a fly ball in the sun off the bat of Stan Jaciuk and was charged with a 2-base error. Howie Wood tied the game with a 2-run double to the wall in right-center. The winning run scored as Duane Josephson slugged a triple to center. Josephson then stole home for the fourth run of the frame.

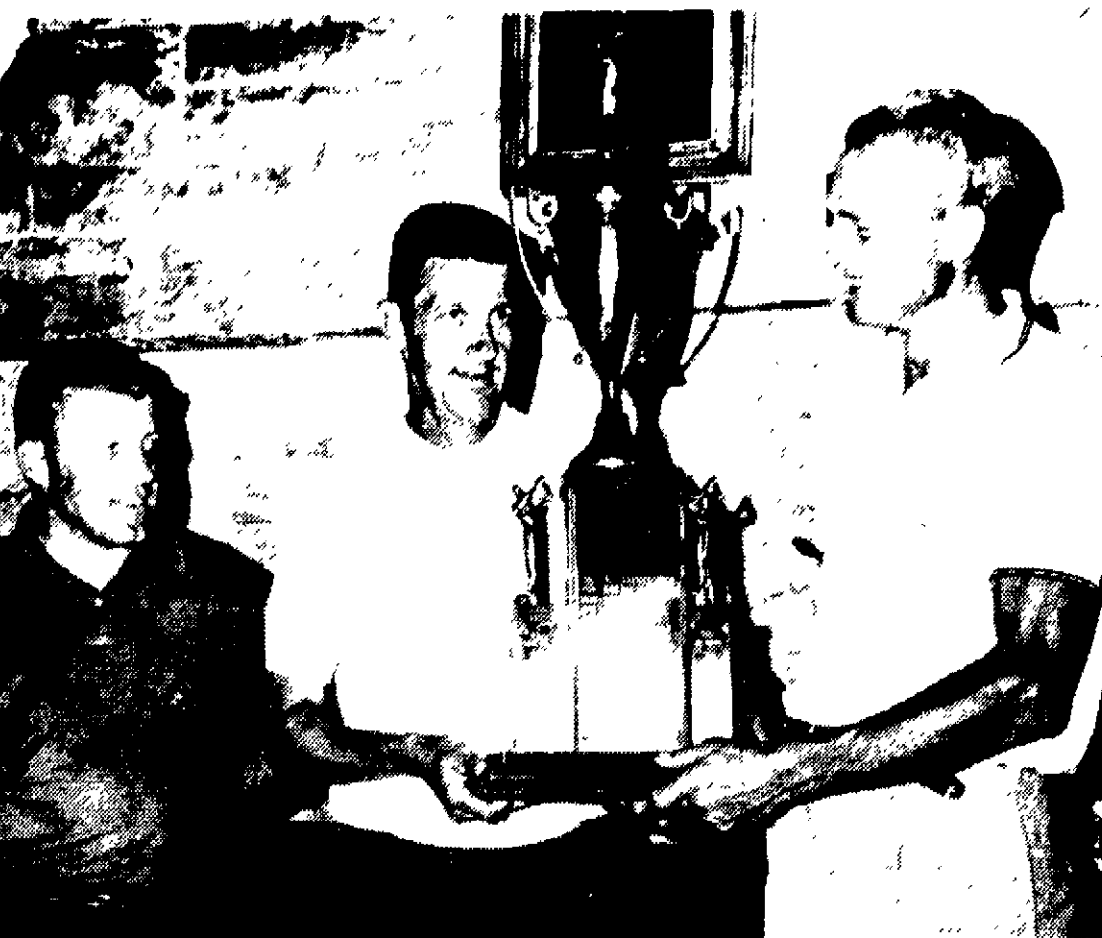

Ed Mathews, Gene Oliver Hit Homers

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—It's too bad the Milwaukee Braves can't play more doubleheaders. They seem to thrive on double duty as members of a non-union profession without overtime benefits.

The Braves swept their seventh twinbill of the season in jolting the San Francisco Giants' pennant hopes 5-4 and 10-2 Sunday before a stunned crowd of 40,713 at Candlestick Park.
A pair of three-run homers, by Eddie Mathews in the first game and by Gene Oliver in the nightcap, powered the Milwaukee sweep which dropped the second place Giants 4 1/2 games behind the National League leading Philadelphia Phillies.

Despite the losses, the Giants displayed an awesome show of power, belting five homers in the two games. They hit four in the opener, but all came with the bases empty.
Frank Lary, veteran right-hander recently obtained from the New York Mets, made his debut with the Braves and earned the victory in the opener with help from Bob Tiefenauer.

The Braves got two of the runs back in the fourth on singles by Ed Bailey and Joe Torre, a double by Felipe Alou and Denny Menke's sacrifice fly.
In the seventh, Menke reached first on an error and Mike de la Hoz singled as a pinchhitter for Lary. Mathews then unloaded his 18th homer of the season and Tiefenauer checked the Giants in the last three innings except for a homer by Orlando Cepeda.

Al Baerenwald, 5-Time winner of the Appleton City Golf Championship, right, accepts the Brettschneider trophy from tournament coordinator Gerald 'Babe' Bayer in the Reid Municipal Clubhouse Sunday afternoon.

Packer Veterans Refuse to Give Way to Anxious Rookies

Hanner Draws Praise for His Outstanding Job on Defense

GREEN BAY (AP)—The Green Bay Packers are making it clear they are not giving way to anxious rookies. Vince Lombardi's job back and belted the New York Giants 34-10 Saturday night in refusal to give ground in the fourth annual Bishop's Charity game before a sellout crowd of 42,327.
"We can't afford to get into any bad habits," said veteran end Max McGee. "I couldn't imagine us losing two of these games in a row."

The Packers' offense was sluggish in the first half, which ended in a 3-3 standoff. But quarterback Bart Starr rallied his charges for a touchdown on an 87-yard march in the third quarter to put Green Bay in front to stay.
Offense Sluggish
The Packers then turned the game into a rout by exploding for 24 points in the final period as they posted their eighth straight victory over the Giants in all meetings since 1960.

Baerenwald Beats Hulsizer, 4 and 3, For City Golf Crown

Al Repeats '63 Performance for 5th Title; Bayer Wins Consolation

BY TERRY GALVIN
Post-Crescent Staff Writer
David, 5-foot, 4-inch Jimmy Hulsizer, failed in his bid to launch a 9-iron to within 4 feet of the cup on the 21st, set-back Al Baerenwald, of the Appleton City Golf Club, to tie the match. Both missed the green on the 22nd but Baerenwald curled in a difficult, 6-foot putt to go 1-up with the par. Al never relinquished the lead thereafter.
He repeated his birdie performance on the seventh and eighth holes (25th and 26th) to match.

Baerenwald added the '64 honors to his championships of '63, '58, '53 and '50. Baerenwald, now 34 and the father of four children, captured his first crown at the age of 20. His five titles constitute nearly one-third of the championships in the 18-year history of the event. Baerenwald's record, despite the rigorous pressure of match play, has to be the most amazing links achievement in the annals of Appleton golf history.

Other Winners
Other Flight winners were Chuck Bayer, Championship Consolation; Chuck Wegner, A's; Paul Schmidt, B's; Ralph Belford, C's; Paul DeYoung, D's; Rich Burch, E's; Dan Wachendonk, F's; Ollie Champeau, over Waupaca and the champion Junior Championship and Patonship in the northern division of the Fox Valley Legion League.

The winners will play Mayville for the overall league title. Dan Neumeier pitched the win for Clintonville, striking out 10 and walking three. He was tagged for a 2-run homer by Waupaca's Dave Peterson, but allowed only three other hits. Dan Hedtke doubled home Clintonville's first run and scored himself on Dick Hartmann's fourth hole squared the match. Hulsizer, dapperly attired in charcoal green slacks, red golf shirt and two-tone red and black shoes along with his ever-present white golf hat, copped the sixth hole with a par. Baerenwald, more conservatively attired in a white golf shirt and brown slacks and shoes, retaliated vigorously with birdies on the seventh and eighth for a 1-up edge.

Hulsizer evened the match with a par on the ninth. The pair exchanged wins on the 11th and 12th holes. The 13th through 17th were halved, with both rapping in birdie putts on the par three 17th. Hulsizer's was 30 feet and Baerenwald's, about five feet. Hulsizer's 1-up edge season, allowing only seven hits came when he parred the 18th and striking out 13 in a 3-0 opening game victory over St. Louis.
BATTING — Curt Flood, Cardinals, stroked four consecutive singles off Koufax in the opener, under bright, sunny skies in the afternoon round. The eventual victor parred the 19th (1st hole) in the ninth inning.

Yankees Defeat Orioles, 3-1

BY JIM BECKER
Mel Stottlemyre is one summer replacement who may wind up with a show of his own. And on another network.
The 22-year-old right-hander, whose name looks as if it had been plucked at random from a spilled type case, made his second vital start Sunday for New York Yankees during Flag Fortnight, and came off with his second victory.
This time he whipped the league-leading Baltimore Orioles 3-1. That moved the Yankees to within 2 1/2 games of the Orioles, and started Manager Yogi Berra talking pennant.

A misjudged outfield fly helped the Yankees to their first two runs in the game, and a double case of the outfield staggers figured in the 2-1 victory the Chicago White Sox scored over the Red Sox at Boston.
The Chicago victory moved the second place White Sox to within two games of the top.
Hits 42nd Homer
The Yankees move on to Chicago now for four games that will wind up the two-week span in which they will have the Orioles and White Sox 15 straight games.
In other American League games, Harmon Killebrew hit a 42nd homer as the Minnesota Milt Pappas had to retire when his right arm stiffened up. Steve Barber came in, and Roger Maris promptly sliced a double to left. He went to third when Tom Tresh singled to deep short. Luis Aparicio got his glove on the ball and would have thrown Maris out at third but he couldn't hold it.

Phillies Lose to Mets But Raise Lead to 4½; Cubs, Pirates Divide

Curt Flood Gets Eight Hits as Cards Split With Dodgers

BY MIKE RATHERT

The Philadelphia Phillies lost a single game, the San Francisco Giants lost a doubleheader.

But the biggest loser of all Sunday was Curt Flood — and he had eight hits.

While the National League's leading contenders were taking it on the chin, Flood was hitting the ball on the nose for the St. Louis Cardinals and threatening a record that was set when Baltimore was in the National League 70 years ago.

On Sept. 3, 1894, Baltimore outfielder Joe Kelley had collected nine consecutive hits against Cleveland. No one had ever done it before and no one has done it since. Few have even had a shot at the record.

But Flood did.

The 26-year-old right-handed swinger collected four hits as the Cardinals bowed to the Los Angeles Dodgers and Sandy Koufax 3-0 in the opener of a doubleheader and reached the ninth inning of St. Louis' 4-0 nightcap triumph with a string of eight consecutive hits.

First Since 1948

Flood, however, lost his opportunity by striking out swinging against Ron Perranoski.

Flood, however, did become the first National Leaguer since Stan Rojek of Pittsburgh in 1948 to collect eight hits in a doubleheader and his four hits against Koufax also ranked among the top performances of the season.

Koufax hurled a three-hitter against the rest of the Cardinals as he posted his seventh shutout and 19th victory of the season, striking out 13 and lowering his earned run average to a league-leading 1.74.

The Phillies, meanwhile, were bombed by the New York Mets 12-4 but still stretched their lead to 4½ games over the second-place Giants, who dropped a doubleheader to Milwaukee 5-4 and 10-2.

In other NL action, Chicago's Cubs defeated Pittsburgh 5-4 before the Pirates took the second game 7-4 and Cincinnati belted Houston 8-3.

Flood slammed a triple, two doubles and five singles against the Dodgers, collecting four hits in a game for the fifth and sixth time this season while lifting his average from .291 to .302.

Scored Only Run

He scored the only run Curt Simmons needed in the nightcap, opening the first with a triple and scoring on Dick Groat's sacrifice fly. Simmons checked the Dodgers on six hits, bringing his record to 14-9.

Koufax, now 19-5, moved two days ahead of his 1963 pace when he won 25 games, tied the Whitey Ford of the New York Yankees and Dean Chance of the Los Angeles Angels for the most shutouts in the majors and, but struck out 10 or more batters for the 61st time in his career.

The Dodgers scored twice in the fifth on two walks and singles by John Roseboro and Dick State, ripped off the fastest half Tracesski before Tommy Davis wrapped it up with a sixth-inning homer.

White Sox Expect Bonanza at Gate For New York, Baltimore Series

CHICAGO (AP) — The tight American League pennant race will be centered in Chicago this week where the White Sox will draw well over 200,000 and put score a financial coup even if they fail to enhance their title chances.

A four-game series with the New York Yankees opens tonight, followed by a four-game series with the league-leading Baltimore Orioles. The Yankees also will play night games Tuesday and Wednesday, plus an afternoon date Thursday. The Orioles will be here for a night game Friday followed by an afternoon game Saturday and a windup doubleheader Sunday.

The seven dates, even under conservative estimates, should draw well over 200,000 and put the White Sox home attendance over the one million mark.

The Sox have drawn 787,231 for 44 dates this season. An average of 30,000 a date this week will put them within the million mark. If the Sox enjoy any success against the Yankees, the Baltimore series will hoist them over the coveted figure.

The Sox are in second place, two games behind the Orioles and one-half game ahead of the Yankees after a seven game road trip in which they broke even with the Yankees in four games and took two of three from Boston.

Predicts Pennant

Despite the importance of the upcoming series, there is no indication the pennant race will be decided this week, but the outcome of the games will go a long way in helping determine the champion.

The White Sox nipped Boston 2-1 Sunday and closed their season series with a 14-4 bulge over the Red Sox.

Manager Al Lopez simply hopes to remain within range of first place by the end of August, at which time the Sox will have concluded all competition with the Yankees and Orioles.

After that, the Sox battle the also-rans—as do the Yankees and Orioles—and Chicago has compiled a 64-29 record this year against non-contenders.

Lopez is cautious about making predictions, but feels he has the pitching which could carry the Sox to a pennant.

Yankee manager Yogi Berra predicts his club will win the flag.

Following two straight victories over Baltimore, including a 3-1 decision Sunday, Berra said for an $849 share.

Al Baerenwald Captures Fifth City Golf Title

go 3-up. Hulsizer's birdie attempt on both holes just slid by the cup. Baerenwald pushed his tee-shot on the eighth or 26 to the right in a groove of trees. From this position he displayed the treasured talent of a scrambler, wedging over the trees to within three feet of the hole.

Finishes With 38

Hulsizer sliced the margin to 2-down with a 30-foot, par putt on the 27th hole. Hulsizer finished the 9-hole tour with a 38 while Baerenwald matched the par 35 card. The 26th through 31st were halved before Al saw his lead hiked to 3-up again when Hulsizer three-putted the 14th for a double bogey.

Hulsizer, whose consistent, down-the-middle southpaw style kept the ball in play, saw the match draw to a close on the 33rd hole (or the par four, 425-yard 15th). Baerenwald's hooked tee-shot found the adjacent, 14th fairway about 255-yards out. Al rifled a tremendous 6-iron shot over a towering tree to the center of the green. His birdie attempt from 15 feet slid inches by the cup for an easy par. Hulsizer then missed a three footer for his par.

Baerenwald's loose - swinging style, accentuated by his use of a baseball grip, proved to be too much for the dapper Hulsizer, who relies on consistency and a magic touch on the greens. Hulsizer's touch, however, failed on the putting surfaces in the afternoon but his consistent game had him missing one fairway from the tee in the 33 holes.

Many Shots

Hulsizer remarked of Baerenwald after the conclusion of the match: "He sure has many, many shots in his bag." The remark, not satirical in any manner of means, indicates Baerenwald's toughness in match play and the high esteem of his game held jointly by all of his opponents.

Who can argue with the only 5-time winner and second man (Syl) Bayer won the honors in '57 and '58) to successfully defend his Appleton City Golf title? Chuck Bayer defeated Pete Zanzig, 4 and 2 for the Consolation honors. Chuck went 2-over the par with a 37 on the front for a 1-up edge after nine. Bayer matched the card (par) through the 16th on the incoming nine to win the match. Zanzig was 8-over regulation for the 16 holes.

Chuck Wegner and Carl Graves engaged in a heated duel for the A Flight title. Graves made the turn 4-up with a 37, Wegner bridled the 17th to clin- max an uphill struggle and re- gain a 1-up edge. Graves bridled the 18th to send the match to extra holes. Wegner's par earned a 1-up win when Graves three-putted the first sudden death hole.

Graves carded a 76 and Wegner posted a 77 for the regulation trip.

Paul Schmidt garnered the B Flight crown with a 2 and 1 win over Larry Booth. Both turned in respectable medal scores — Schmidt a 77 and Booth a 79.

Beford Wins

Ralph Beford, a 4-time runner-up in Flight competition, broke the ice with a 2 and 1 decision over Bob Armstrong for the C Flight laurels. Beford toured the front side in 1-over 36. Paul DeYoung, competing in the tourney for the first time, emerged with a 1-up win over Milt Bergner in D Flight.

Rich Burch annexed the E flight trophy with a 3 and 2 win over Ron Fairchild. Dan Wachtendonk, 17-year-old linksman, notched a 3 and 2 win over Ron Fairchild. Dan Wachtendonk, 17-year-old linksman, notched a 3 and 2 win over Jim Boudry in F Flight. Wachtendonk eagled the par 5, seventh hole with a 3-wood, 5-iron and 3-foot putt enroute to the win. The eagle was a career first for the youth. He followed it up with a spectacular 6-iron second on the eighth hole, after a sliced drive, setting up a birdie from four feet away.

Ollie Champeau reigns as the Junior Champion with his 5 and 4 victory over Tom Trettin. Pat Fitzgerald captured the junior crown with a 1-up win over from Peters' Bar. The winners Steve Winter, Fitzgerald was now have a 1-5 record while two down with three to play. Peters' is 4-3.

But speaking about replacement, the Packers led off with Bears' meeting. "We owe those guys something. I still can't believe they beat us twice last season. But then they got the both teams in rushing with 78 championship money."

This was 17 more carries than he had all last season. Peeling good about getting a chance to play. Mestnik laughed modestly after the game. "The way they were blocking up there anybody could gain yards."

The big fullback was hitting hard and sliding off and clawing for extra yards.

With Taylor out and Tom Moore sidelined on the opening kickoff, Hornung turned out to be the Packers' only regular runner.

But Mestnik, Elijah Pitts and finally Dennis Claridge and Dwayne Bean took up the slack — but good. Pitts picked up 33 yards in six trips. Bean 24 in four. Hornung finished with seven yards in six trips but threw a 56-yard scoring aerial to Boyd Dowler and kicked four extra points and field goals of 17 and 30 yards.

While the Giants used Y. A. Cr. The winners managed 13 Title only a quarter and a half. It is quite noteworthy that the Packers went with Zeke Bratkowski after only a slim 10 to 3 lead.

line coach Phil Bengston. "If he didn't play last week, it was because we knew what he can do."

Mestnik, a surprise starter, was a workhorse as he carried 18 times for 78 yards. He was inserted into the lineup when Tom Moore suffered a bruised shoulder running back the kickoff. Jim Taylor, the team's No. 1 fullback, was sidelined with muscle spasms in his back.

"It was a tremendous satisfaction to play again," Mestnik, a former Marquette star, said. "Last year I carried the ball only once."

Bratkowski, who saw only limited action last year after being obtained from the Los Angeles Rams, connected on four of six passes, including an 11-yard payoff heave to Marv Fleming, the No. 2 tight end.

Came in Cold

"The big difference this year is that I'm starting from scratch," Bratkowski said. "Last year I came in cold. This training camp has been the best thing that has happened to me."

"We're starting to play like a football team again," veteran guard Jerry Kramer said as the Packers looked ahead to next Saturday's Shrine game with the Chicago Bears at Milwaukee County Stadium.

"Exhibition game my eye," said Jesse Whitten of the Bears' meeting. "We owe those guys something. I still can't believe they beat us twice last season. But then they got the both teams in rushing with 78 championship money."

ings in the second contest and behind the strong hurling of Gary Prestesater, never let the Foxes get close.

Straight Triples
May and Rico blasted consecutive triples in the first to chalk up one run and the Foxes managed an unearned one in the second, but the C-Sox opened up an 11-2 lead by the ninth.

Jim Jankow started for the Foxes, hurling the first four innings and taking the defeat. Three of the runs scored against him were unearned, as were two against reliever Jerry Glass. The Foxes committed four errors in the game.

Order Restored in Chicago Suburb After 5-Hour Rioting

More Than 50 Persons Hurt
When Automobiles Are Stoned

BY SEYMOUR M. HERSH
DIXMOOR, Ill. (AP) — one thousand angry Negroes rioted for five hours Sunday night before 200 police with shotguns restored order to this predominantly Negro suburb south of Chicago.

More than 50 persons — most of them white — were injured when Negroes stoned them in their autos. Twenty-five Negroes were arrested after the first racial outbreak in the Chicago area this summer.

Crews Seem to be Winning Fight to End Nevada Fires

ELKO, Nev. (AP) — Firefighters appeared today to be winning a battle with four large, northeastern Nevada range fires which scorched an estimated 170,000 acres of grassland and sagebrush.

A Bureau of Land Management official said three of the blazes were largely controlled overnight. But at last report, a 51,000-acre fire still burned out of control in the rugged, hard-to-reach Boulder Creek area northwest of Elko.

About 900 men were on the fire lines today and 150 more were waiting in Elko to be dispatched.

A half dozen other major blazes burned an additional 13,000 acres in northern and central Nevada Saturday and Sunday. Most were set when a series of lightning-charged thunderstorms crossed the state Saturday.

A Boise, Idaho, pilot was killed Sunday when his plane crashed 20 miles north of Elko. He was returning to Boise after flying a group of firefighters to Elko, seat of a vast cattle and sheep ranching area. Two Elko County ranchers were hospitalized with serious burns suffered as they tried to build a fire line with a bulldozer.

Clair Whitlock, Bureau of Land Management district director, said he hoped all four big fires could be controlled today.

Fire Destroys Pier at Scottish Polaris Base

DUNOON, Scotland (AP) — Flames early today destroyed a 250-yard-long pier serving the U.S. Polaris base in Scotland.

A small lighter, moored alongside the pier, was believed the source of the blaze. The lighter was towed away by a U.S. Navy launch.

The pier is owned by the British navy but has been leased for the past four years for exclusive use by the U.S. Polaris depot. It has been the scene of many anti-nuclear demonstrations.

Scottish police and Navy security officers commenced an investigation, though one source said there was no immediate suspicion of sabotage.

Contract Offers Aired By GM, Ford, Chrysler

Higher Pay, Pensions, Earlier Retirement Are Included in Proposals

DETROIT (AP) — A wide range of economic improvements, including higher wages, larger pensions and earlier retirement, was offered to the United Auto Workers today by the industry's Big Three—General Motors, Ford and Chrysler.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther had forecast beforehand the offers "will not be realistic." Increased vacation and holiday pay also were offered by the automakers, along with a proposal to refund the tuition of any employees furthering their education through spare-time studies.

Locals at AMC Authorize Strike

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Members of the United Auto Workers at American Motors Corp. plants in Kenosha and Milwaukee voted almost unanimously Sunday to authorize their executive boards to call a strike to support demands in a new contract.

Tony L. Russo, president of Local 72 in Kenosha, said that 98 per cent of more than 10,000 members voted the strike authorization. He called the action "the strongest vote we ever had."

In Milwaukee, where only some 4,000 UAW members turned out for a meeting, Local 75 president Joseph J. Wysocki said that "at least 95 per cent" of those voting favored giving the executive board power to call a strike, if necessary.

At Kenosha, virtually all proposals did in 1961. The union never has accepted as final a first offer from the companies.

Flexible Offer
And Louis G. Eaton, GM vice president — personnel, told the union there was room for "give and take within the dimensions of our economic proposals."

Hoffa and 6 Others Await Sentences in Pension Fraud Case

Teamsters' President Could Get 20-Year Prison Term

CHICAGO (AP) — James R. Hoffa, Teamsters Union president, convicted July 25 of a scheme to defraud a $280-million union pension fund, is due to appear for sentencing today.

Hoffa can be sentenced to a maximum of 20 years in prison and $13,000 in fines by U.S. District Judge Richard B. Austin, who presided over the three-month trial.

Also to be sentenced are Hoffa's six codefendants in the trial, who were each found guilty of at least one count of conspiracy and one count of fraud. Hoffa was convicted on three counts of fraud and one of conspiracy.

Teamsters' President Could Get 20-Year Prison Term
The men were convicted of fraudulently arranging more than $20 million in loans from the pension fund and illegally diverting more than a million to their own use.

On Aug. 10 attorneys for Hoffa and the others filed a lengthy motion for acquittal or new trial in the case.

Fifty-six listed reasons for acquittal included what was alleged to be prejudicial humor by Judge Austin. Austin will rule on the motions today.

The conviction last month was Hoffa's second within six months. In March, he was found guilty of jury tampering in

Congressman Says He'll Seek New York Seat in U. S. Senate

NEW YORK (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy flew here unannounced today and immediately conferred with Mayor Robert F. Wagner, presumably about the New York state Democratic nomination for the U.S. Senate.

Amid the growing support for a Kennedy candidacy, Rep. Samuel S. Stratton of upstate Amsterdam formally announced for the nomination. The Kennedy movement's is so evident that Stratton's announcement included an attack on his undeclared opponent.

Stratton said in his announcement Sunday that nominating Kennedy would give the Republicans a "million-dollar issue" for the campaign.

This was a reference to the fact that Kennedy lives in Virginia and maintains a voting residence in his native Massachusetts. Supporters of Kennedy say that, under the U.S. Constitution, he would be eligible to run for the Senate if he established a residence in New York State by election day. His opponents contend that New York State laws have stricter requirements, which make Kennedy ineligible.

Khanh stepped up from premier after South Viet Nam's 62-man military junta approved a new constitution Sunday creating a presidential system with near-dictatorial power for the president in an emergency.

Needs Junta's Approval
The junta placed only one restraint on Khanh. It insisted on a constitutional provision requiring the president to consult with the junta — the Military Revolutionary Council — before issuing decrees.

Asked if he intended to take the role of military dictator, Khanh replied: "For six months I have been head of a totalitarian regime without being totalitarian. I can head a dictatorial regime without being a dictator."

Government sources said Khanh probably will name cabinet members within a week.

A ranking minister commented: "It will be like reshuffling a deck of cards, but all the cards will remain in the deck."

Khanh replaced Maj. Gen. Duong Van Minh, who held the presidency as figurehead chief of state. Although Minh remains State by election day. His opponents contend that New York State laws have stricter requirements, which make Kennedy ineligible.

Wagner, honorary chairman of the organization, said funds had not been withheld, "but we are in the process of working out our budget allocation."

One of the most serious allegations against the program, Scervane said, is that some of its mimeograph machines were used in turning out inflammatory material during last month's racial rioting in Harlem and the Bedford-Stuyvesant section of Brooklyn.

Scervane said he had turned over material to the FBI, and said he intended to consult today with John E. Malone, chief of the New York FBI office. The FBI office refused comment.

Mobilization for Youth receives about 50 per cent of its budget from federal agencies, 28.5 per cent from the city and about 14 per cent from the Ford Foundation.

Traffic Toll Increased by 12

2 Others Die of Injuries Received in Earlier Crashes

Traffic accidents on Wisconsin highways during the past weekend killed 12 persons and two others died of injuries suffered earlier, placing the state's 1964 fatality count at 656, compared with 520 at the same time in 1963.

Two men were killed in an accident Sunday a half mile south of Fish Creek, on Highway 42 in Door County. The victims were William R. Smoler, 24, of Chicago, and Robert H. Christensen, 23, of Racine. Police said they were riding in a car driven by Bruce J. Sparler, 23, York, Pa., when the vehicle went out of control on a curve.

Clinton Dieder, 21, of La Crosse was killed Sunday night when a car left Highway 53 and overturned in a ditch north of Ettrick in Trempealeau County.

Falls Under Wagon
Roger A. Tuttle, 14, of rural Campbellsport was killed Sunday when he fell under the wheels of a wagon pulled by a tractor in Cascade. Authorities said the youth apparently jumped off the tractor as his uncle, Arnold L. Knoelke, turned off Sheboygan County Trunk A into his driveway.

Christ Anderson, 73, of rural Soldiers Grove was killed early Sunday when he was struck by a car as he walked on Crawford County Trunk C on the outskirts of Soldiers Grove.

Colorado River Dam Dedicated By First Lady

FLAMING GORGE, Utah (AP) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson dedicated the $65-million dam and power plant here today and said it proved big dreams can come true.

It was the first time a First Lady — and for that matter, any woman — had dedicated a dam, according to Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall, who accompanied Mrs. Johnson here.

The 502-foot-high, dam in this spectacular gorge of red and pink rock formations, is part of a vast flood control, hydroelectric power, and recreation project in the upper Colorado River basin.

In a speech prepared for her dedication, Mrs. Johnson said Arras, Jean Amoureux, explorer-geologist John Wesley formed parents of children who Powell, who named Flaming Gorge, "dreamed dreams about a network of huge dams which could cause this arid land to flourish."

Twenty-two government soldiers today against the same Viet Cong unit resulted in 10 enemy guerrillas killed and about 40 more carried off, U.S. officials claimed.

But from any standpoint, it was clear that government troops had suffered one of their bloodiest setbacks in weeks, with heavy weapons losses.

Run Into Ambush
The action began when an approximately 400 Viet Cong attacked the hamlets of Hoa My and Hiep Hung, 90 miles southwest of here Sunday afternoon. Eight defenders were killed and 19 wounded.

But the real bloodletting came when a relief force was sent to the beleaguered hamlets Sunday night, and ran into a Viet Cong ambush about two miles from one of the posts.

17 Killed as French Bus Leaves Road

BOURG ST. MAURICE, France (AP) — The death count rose to 17 today in an Alpine bus accident which turned a children's vacation outing into tragedy.

Doctors in the hospital of Bourg St. Maurice worked to save the lives of 16 others injured when the bus went off the road Sunday and plunged 230 feet into a ravine.

The bus was carrying vacationing French youngsters from a shepherd's festival back to their camp at the summer resort at Seer near the Swiss frontier.

Found Off Road
The driver, Armand Lotier, 51, who suffered severe injuries, told police he was forced off the road by an approaching car.

"I knew we were going over the edge when I felt the wheels hit the soft dirt alongside the road," Lotier said.

The bus crashed through a guard rail and landed upside down at the bottom of the ravine. Motorists helped remove the dead and injured from the wreckage.

All Victims French
The accident occurred in the hamlet of La Froide, about four miles from the 7,178-foot summit of Little St. Bernard, a peak in the Alpine range which includes Mt. Blanc.

All the victims were French, many from the northern city of Arras.

When news of the tragedy was broadcast in Arras parents frantically put in telephone calls to Bourg St. Maurice.

Police stations in Arras tried to cope with the wave of calls but found it difficult to get details of the accident.

Later, the deputy mayor of dedication, Mrs. Johnson said Arras, Jean Amoureux, explorer-geologist John Wesley formed parents of children who Powell, who named Flaming Gorge, "dreamed dreams about a network of huge dams which could cause this arid land to flourish."

Moon Pictures Will be Sent To 110 Nations

Johnson Hopes
Space Off-Limits
To Aggressors

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has voiced the hope all nations will join "to place the peaceful realms of space off-limits to the designs of aggressors on earth."

This hope, and the suggestion that it be accomplished through the United Nations, was contained in a statement Sunday announcing he was sending to leaders of 110 nations photographs of the moon taken by cameras of Ranger 7 before it hit the moon July 31.

He said he was sending the pictures in the name of the people of the United States as an expression of the desire that human knowledge be used for human betterment.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., reports that in 1952 Adlai E. Stevenson rejected as "demagogic" a suggestion that he promise to go to Korea in the presidential campaign.

Sparkman, who was Stevenson's vice presidential running mate that year, gave his footnote to history Sunday in a recorded radio program. He recalled that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower promised "I shall go to Korea."

The Alabamian went no farther with this, but commented: "By the way, I think it may be an interesting point to note that this suggestion had been made to Gov. Adlai Stevenson, that is, that he promise that he would go to Korea and he said that it was demagogic and he would not indulge in it."

Eisenhower defeated Stevenson in 1952 and again in 1956.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has ordered that "the very highest caliber of Americans" be found to staff the international organizations in which the United States participates.

He directed all executive departments Sunday to take steps toward this end. His memorandum to department and agency heads said they should assist actively in seeking candidates for such assignments. He asked that Secretary of State Dean Rusk coordinate the effort.

Noting that this country belongs to the United Nations and more than 50 other international groups, Johnson said: "It seems to me to be the part of wisdom to back our stake in such groups with the very highest caliber of people available."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. William E. Miller will launch his Republican vice presidential campaign Sept. 5 in his hometown of Lockport, N.Y., with an assist from his presidential running mate, Sen. Barry Goldwater.

The Republican National Committee, announcing the campaign date today, said it will be "Bill Miller Day" in the western New York town where Miller was born and later practiced law.

Miller is scheduled to deliver a major speech, and Goldwater will appear on the program with him, the committee announcement said.

The Miller kickoff will follow by two days Goldwater's formal campaign launching at Prescott, Ariz.

Talent Search Program

ABC Project Helps Boys Bridge Gaps

BY GORDON GLOVER

HANOVER, N.H. (AP) — An Indian youth from South Dakota curls up with Homer's "Odyssey," his eyes darting hungrily across each page. A Negro, idly drumming his knuckles with a pencil, frowns in concentration over an algebra problem.

One is from a windswept reservation on the Great Plains, the other from the slums of Harlem.

But both are on the threshold of a world once reserved for the rich and the well-born. They are preparing to enter the swankiest of New England prep schools.

For these youngsters, and 52 others like them, Dartmouth College and 40 top-grade preparatory schools this summer launched a program called project ABC — or "A Better Chance."

Bridge Gap

Its purpose is to help the boys bridge the gap between their home environments and the campuses of places like the Choate School, Phillips Andover Academy, Groton, St. Paul's and Hotchkiss.

For eight weeks they are boning up on mathematics and English at Dartmouth. They attend classes for four hours daily, then study on their own for at least four hours more. The atmosphere is tense and competitive, much as it would be at prep school.

The boys were selected by the independent schools' talent search program, whose field director is James E. Simmons, a Negro and graduate of Harvard. Working with teachers, welfare workers, church groups and others, he found promising students with uncertain academic futures. Most are Negroes from the big cities of the East or from rural areas of the South. One is a Puerto Rican from New York. Another is a Chinese-American. All come from impoverished families, many subsisting on welfare payments.

If they do well in the ABC program, the boys — ranging in age from 13 to 17 — will go on to prep schools with full scholarship aid.

"We're trying to remove them permanently from environments that are deprived educationally, culturally and economically," says Simmons. "It isn't enough to do it just for one summer and then send them back to South Dakota or Harlem."

Risk Candidates

Charles F. Dey, director of ABC, says the aim is to find "risk candidates," not the genius types who usually are discovered by other sources and pushed along to college.

"They are risks in the sense that they need special help and intensive tutoring," says Dey. "But we aren't trying to motivate the unmotivated. These youngsters must have a desire to get an education."

What future would these boys face if it weren't for project ABC?

"Some would be high school dropouts," says Simmons. "Some, particularly those from the South, would go on to all-Negro colleges. Some of the Northerners might go to commercial or vocational schools."

"But in this program, we want to give them more than that. We want to give them a crack at a much better life."

Humphrey Warns Of Rash Actions In Southeast Asia

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey said today it would be a tragedy if "rash words here at home were to inspire rash actions in Southeast Asia."

In a speech prepared for the Los Angeles Town Hall, the Minnesota Democrat, frequently mentioned as a possible running mate for President Johnson, warned that there is no quick or easy victory to be won in Southeast Asia.

"The independence and security of South Viet Nam will be achieved only in a hard, costly, complex struggle — which will be waged chiefly in South Viet Nam," he said.

"One would hope that discussions here at home during an electoral campaign would not lead to misunderstandings abroad. It would be a tragedy if rash words here at home were to inspire actions in Southeast Asia."

Humphrey did not refer to the Republican party or to its presidential nominee, Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, by name.

Parachuter Killed On His First Jump

HIGGINSVILLE, Mo. (AP) — Wallace Dale Whitzel, 26, of Kansas City, plunged to his death Sunday on his first parachute jump.

Don Cooper, president of a skydiving club, and pilot of the jump plane, said Whitzel leaped at 2,700 feet and opened his parachute. The small pilot chute which pulls out the big one became entangled in his arm, Cooper said, and Whitzel waited too long to open his reserve chute.

Chicago Police Probe Blasts

None of Series
Of Attacks Has Been Solved

CHICAGO — (AP) — Investigators were seeking clues today to two more attacks on Chicago area businesses—the latest in a long series of bombings and arson.

A gasoline-fed fire at a west suburban restaurant and the bombing of a south suburban tool and die plant Sunday came two days after a special grand jury was called to probe the wave of attacks.

The bombing and fire brought the total to 71 in the Chicago area since January 1962. None has been solved.

Charred by Fire

The fire charred the rear section of an old farm house in Hillside being remodeled to open later this month as an eating place — Lulubelle's restaurant and cocktail lounge.

Directly across the street from Lulubelle's stands the burned-out remains of another restaurant, the Lilac Lodge, which closed in May after arsonists apparently touched off a blaze there. Both places are owned by Joseph Wilkos and his son, Robert.

Rackets Hearing

The elder Wilkos testified in 1958 before a congressional committee investigating possible union racketeering in Chicago area restaurants. However, Robert Wilkos said he does not believe the testimony figured in either arson case.

The bombing of the Bonnell Manufacturing Co. in Riverdale destroyed a boiler and nearby machinery, causing $15,000 damage.

Police Lt. Peter Babich said a fused bomb apparently was dropped down the plant's chimney.

John Browning Star Of Festival Weekend

BY JACK RUDOLPH
Post-Crescent News Service

FISH CREEK — John Browning dramatically vindicated his selection as the Peninsula Music Festival's third Vera Warner Dougan award artist Sunday afternoon at Gibraltar High School when he presented a passionately brilliant performance of the Prokofiev Third Piano Concerto.

It was a glittering climax to a musical weekend of interesting and highly artistic variety that needed just such a touch to give it dash.

Aside from Browning's whirlwind finale, the double program had a little bit of everything. Soprano Joyce Weibel and Jay Willoughby, baritone, made Saturday night debuts. The evening also included the first public performance of Cecil Effinger's Trio Concertante for Trumpet, Horn and Trombone, written for this year's festival.

The piece started well, showed a lot of early spirit, considerable ingenuity and intricate rhythm but failed to maintain momentum. Part of the trouble may have been in playing at Mayor Clarence Mitchell and Police Chief Earl O. Wolff will represent Appleton at the noon awards dinner to be held at the Conway Motor Hotel.

Awards will be presented by Wayne Rowan, Appleton, a member of the Wisconsin AAA advisory board.

In a letter to officials of the various communities, Arthur Wichern, Madison, public relations director for the AAA, said, "In behalf of the AAA Motor Club, may I offer my congratulations for the splendid showing your community made in the 1963 AAA pedestrian appraisal program."

Doctors' Pharmacies In Appleton, Neenah Cited in Senate Quiz

Doctor-owned pharmacies in Appleton and Neenah were among the 24 in Wisconsin under attack Friday during a Senate monopoly subcommittee hearing in Washington.

Paul A. Pumpian, Milwaukee, secretary of the Wisconsin State Board of Pharmacy, said Wisconsin druggists were threatened by unfair competition from physician-owned pharmacies.

The committee is investigating what was described as a minor but growing outbreak of small scale business monopoly and conflict of interest among doctors who allegedly are making captive consumers of their patients.

The doctor-owned pharmacies in the Fox Cities were not identified. The committee was told there are also such operations at Shawano and Green Bay.

An American Medical Association spokesman described some of the charges against doctors as being unfair and un-American.

Official Praises Construction of Man-Made Lake

Construction of a one-acre lake planned by the Outagamie County Conservation Club in the Town of Center is "one of the soundest, most forward looking investments" the club could make, a regional official said Monday.

Gordon A. Bubolz, chairman of the Wolf River Basin Regional Planning Commission, spoke to the club at its monthly meeting.

The building of man-made lakes on land suited for that purpose will give momentum to wildlife development programs and help to maintain water tables and moisture needs as well as provide recreation, he said.

The Wolf River Basin Regional Planning Commission, Bubolz concluded, is assisting the Outagamie County Conservation Club in securing state support and approval of the lake.

His sister, Diana, 3, was reported in fair condition at the hospital today with a fractured leg. Richard Rogala, 28, Chicago, was taken off the critical list at St. Elizabeth Hospital, Appleton. The hospital said he was slightly improved.

$57 Million Worth

Students Paying for University Buildings

Students attending the nine Wisconsin state universities are buying $57 million worth of buildings for the state.

Eugene R. McPhee, Madison, director of state universities, said the buildings purchased by students for the state will increase as more residence halls, food service buildings and student center additions are constructed on the nine campuses to meet rising enrollment needs.

Construction loans for the buildings are guaranteed by the federal government agency which encourages sale of the bonds to private investors, McPhee said. The bonds are retired over a 40-year period from dormitory fees and meal charges paid by students. Title to the buildings then will go to the Board of Regents of State Colleges, a state agency.

Life of the buildings is estimated at 100 years, or 60 years after they are decided to be state property by the Wisconsin State Colleges Building Corp.

12,000 in Dorms

When nearly 29,000 students start classes at the nine universities next month, some 12,000 will be living in 54 residence halls and nearly all will eat in campus student centers and dining halls. They also will see construction starting on 11 new residence halls and three food service buildings, to be ready for use in September, 1965. Residence hall capacity then will be more than 15,000, or nearly half of the anticipated 34,000 students.

This fall the students staying in WSU residence halls will pay about $30 a month each to share double rooms and about $40 a month for meals. They will pay more than $3 million in room fees during the school year. Two million will be used for payments on the buildings, the other million for operating costs.

Meanwhile, payments on some 34 million dollars worth of academic buildings on the nine campuses will be made from state tax funds.

Book Value

The value of buildings completed and under construction on the various campuses follows. $1,325,255 and $3,122,092; the first figure for buildings being financed by students and the second figure for academic buildings being financed with state tax funds.

Eau Claire, $4,430,553 and $3,251,251; La Crosse, $4,030,307 and $4,232,879; Oshkosh, $7,341,153 and $4,003,004; Platteville, $5,283,003 and $2,342,056; River Falls, $4,325,255 and $3,122,092; Stevens Point, $5,000,000 and $3,232,635; Stout, $4,052,042 and $4,050,000; Superior, $2,230,392 and $1,041,518; and Whitewater, $7,118,767 and $6,343,436.

test coordinator is Harry Emunds, Clintonville.

Contestants are Susan Henderson, Waupaca, sponsored by Waupaca Jaycees; Patricia Zick, Waupaca, sponsored by Weyauwega Lions Club; Sherry Beth Nehring, Marion, sponsored by Marion Lions Club; Margaret O'Brien, Manawa, sponsored by Manawa Lions Club; Nancy Johnson, Chain O'Lakes area, sponsored by towns of Dayton and Farmington; Lynn Abraham, Fremont, sponsored by Fremont Chamber of Commerce; Sally Andrew, New London, sponsored by New London Jaycees, and Susan Schulz, Clintonville, sponsored by the Clintonville Jaycees.

New London Merchant Is Retiring

NEW LONDON — Adolph Lercher ended 26 years as a clothing merchant here with his retirement Saturday.

Lercher, 67, operated the Lercher Clothing Store in the same location since 1938. On Saturday only a few odds and ends remained in the empty store.

The store has been sold to the Ben Franklin Variety chain, currently operating next to the former clothing establishment.

Musing about the many friends he and his wife Bertha are leaving, Lercher pointed out in a small town the size of New London a closer relationship is built between the businessman and the customer.

The Lerchers plan to spend the winter in California.

2 Soviet Cats Want To Play 'Real Jazz' In the United States

COPENHAGEN. Denmark (AP) — Now that they've gotten out of the bag, two Soviet "cats" said today they would like to go to the United States to play "real jazz."

After their arrival by plane from Tokyo where they left a defuncting Soviet variety troupe, the defuncting musicians said they had been practicing jazz more or less secretly in Moscow for several years.

Bassoonist Igor Berechshia, 31, said the urge to play "real jazz" overwhelmed him and his companion, clarinetist Boris Midney, 27. He said they met American jazz men during Benjamin Goodman's visit to the Soviet Union two years ago.

U.S. officials accompanied the musicians from Tokyo, where they requested political asylum Thursday.

A U.S. spokesman said American officials in West Germany would be "helping out" while the two await a final reply to their request for political asylum.

Washington Corrections Center

Convicts of New Prison to Carry Keys to Their Cells and Futures

BY JOE RIGERT

SHELTON, Wash. (AP) — Convicts will carry the keys to their cells and their futures at the $14-million Washington State Corrections Center, one of the nation's newest and most modern prisons.

The keys will unlock the cell doors. But it will take their cooperation in an extensive training program to open the iron gates for their return to society as useful, law-abiding citizens.

The proving ground will be this sprawling, campus-type complex of 14 bright, airy buildings on a 400-acre site amid the forests of the southern Puget Sound country.

It bears little resemblance to the prisons of the past. Missing are the high walls, cavernous cellblocks and crowded cells.

Bars Replaced

Iron bars are replaced by reinforced concrete security screens of waffle-like design.

The new institution embodies the latest in prison design, from the private cells, each with a view, to the 1½ miles of wire fencing that courses the rolling terrain.

Its buildings and program have been fashioned to teach responsibility rather than rebellion, train for employment rather than crime, and encourage toward acceptable behavior rather than deviancy.

"We don't subscribe to the notion that every man is hopeless," says Dr. Garrett Heyns, state director of institutions, who planned the prison as a capstone to a long career in corrections administration.

"Every man should have his chance to make good"

720 Inmates

That chance will come next October, as the state gradually begins filling the facility to its capacity of 720 inmates.

The center is really two institutions in one — a 240-man reception unit, and a medium-security prison for 480 young first offenders showing the greatest promise for rehabilitation.

Nearly all newly committed male felons will be sent to the maximum-security reception center for six weeks of testing to determine where they should serve out their terms.

The select group of young offenders will be channeled to the completely separate prison facilities here; others may go to the state penitentiary, others to the reformatory and some to the adult honor camps.

Those who remain here will get the benefit of high school classes, wide-ranging vocational courses and balanced recreational activities — all designed to turn their interests into productive lines.

Locked in Cells

New inmates will be locked in their cells at night for the first three months. After that, if they show satisfactory progress, they will get keys.

The idea behind it, says Supt. Ernest C. Timpani, is to make them feel responsible for their cells and their belongings.

The inmates will be outfitted in brown trousers, tan shirts and light tan jackets because officials feel these are more attractive than the traditional blue denim.

At mealtime, the prisoners will set where they please at tables.

HOW SKELLY ANTI-CLOG SK-12 helps keep your furnace clean and free flowing:

THROUGH THIS PINPOINT opening must pass all of the fuel your furnace burns. One tiny speck of dirt, rust or sludge can clog it—and you're in for a service call and repair bill!

BUT SK-12, Skelly's anti-clog additive, keeps burner nozzle clean and free-flowing, prevents trouble before it happens. Helps prevent clogging of fuel lines, filter, too.

diers were killed, 53 were wounded, 15 are missing and presumed captured by the Viet Cong, and 26 weapons, including two machine guns, are missing.

The ambush was typical of the Viet Cong pattern that has operated successfully for several months—a fairly strong attack against a post followed by an overwhelming ambush of the relief force. U.S. advisers have repeatedly said Vietnamese army units usually fail to put odd flank guards and take other measures vital to avoiding ambush.

The remnants of the mangled relief force kept going, however, and a helicopter unit was flown in today to reinforce it.

Officials said the helicopter troops caught up with the Viet Cong near one of the posts, and fought a pitched battle along a canal. Friendly troops reportedly suffered five killed and four wounded, but finally got the best of the enemy. Ten enemy bodies were reported left behind.

Nelson Says Reynolds Is In Trouble

Difficulties in Politics Caused By Tax Solution

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., said Sunday night that Democratic Gov. John W. Reynolds is "in deep political trouble" because he had settled a tax crisis rather than cripple state institutions and services.

Nelson told a Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner in Racine that Reynolds is "in the same shoes and in the same political fix" as he was as governor two years ago.

"He is under bitter partisan attack simply because he faced up to his conscience and settled a state tax crisis in the only way he could," Nelson said in referring to Reynolds' tax settlement with the Republican-controlled legislature.

Reynolds Criticized

The Wisconsin senator sharply criticized Reynolds' Republican gubernatorial opponent, Warren Knowles, whom he described as "one of the architects of Wisconsin's financial crisis."

"For more than a decade, a succession of Republican governors, with Warren Knowles standing smiling at their side sat deaf, dumb and blind before a rising sea of financial troubles," Nelson said.

He added that Knowles and former Govs. Walter Kohler and Vernon Thomson had ignored an exploding birth rate, booming enrollments at schools, colleges and institutions and repeated warnings that many of the state's public buildings were "dangerously overcrowded, unsanitary fire traps."

Manawa Dinner

Knowles told a GOP dinner at Manawa Sunday night that agriculture has become "freemanized" under the Democratic administration and replacement of Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman should be a first order of business next year.

Knowles charged that since Freeman became secretary in 1961, the nation's farm situation has deteriorated and all the progress made while Dwight Eisenhower was president has been lost.

"The Democrats have no real interest in agriculture, beyond its political possibilities," Knowles said. "But I am concerned because 40 per cent of our people in Wisconsin depend, to some degree, on agriculture and its products."

Big 3 Auto Firms Air Proposals to Union

dimensions, we will examine their suggestions," he said.

All three companies limited their offers to economic areas. No mention was made of individual plant working agreements which supplement the national contracts, and an area in which the union has raised some of its most strenuous demands thus far.

Locals Vote on Strike

The counter offers came after the UAW began polling its membership, seeking strike authorization if negotiators want to use it.

The offers each required 20-odd typewritten pages.

Ford proposed flatly to continue the so-called annual improvement factor under which hourly rated workers receive an automatic 2.5 per cent yearly wage increase to compensate them for cost-saving technological advances—automation.

GM said its offer would raise wages 6 to 13 cents hourly over a 3-year period, but did not specifically mention annual improvement factor.

Chrysler estimated its offer would add 6 to 12 cents hourly.

Living Cost Clause

All three proposed to continue the current cost of living escalator on which wages rise or fall with changes in the index of the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics.

And all three offered to write into the basic wage scale the 9 cents added to paychecks since current contracts were written in 1961. In other words, workers could lose only 5 of the 14 cents they now get under this clause, if the cost of living nose-dived.

The companies offered to increase pensions from $2.80 earlier retirement among its top monthly for each year of service to $3.25. At Chrysler, at least, the increase would apply only to workers retiring in the future. The UAW has strongly demanded that the pensions of those already retired be raised, as well.

Retirement at 60

The companies also proposed retirement — if mutually agreeable — at age 60. Currently retirement is possible at 65; mandatory at 68.

In addition, the companies offered an incentive for early retirement, proposing, in effect, to pay workers as much between ages 60 and 65 as they would be entitled to from both company pension and Social Security at age 65.

Vacation maximums would be increased to 3 weeks after 15 years and to 4 weeks after 25 years. The general rule now is 2 weeks, regardless of years.

The companies offered to pay the full cost of group life and health insurance for active employees. The cost now is shared.

Ford said this item alone would represent a take-home pay increase of $4 to $8 a month.

Good Friday would become a paid holiday at each firm.

Benefit for Windows

Additional benefits also were proposed for widows and families of deceased workers, plus an increase in supplemental unemployment benefits paid on top of government-paid benefits to laidoff workers.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics estimates the current average hourly wage in the auto industry as a whole is $3.01, but the Big Three claim their average is higher.

The UAW adopted higher wages, increased pensions and ment announcement appeared in Sunday's Post-Crescent.

goals for 1964, but made No. 1 its demands for improved working conditions.

Among other things it is demanding what amounts to two, 10-minute coffee breaks on assembly lines "to relieve the tedious monotony." Workers now get two 12-minute breaks to attend to personal needs.

Demands Not Mentioned

None of the companies mentioned this or other proposed working condition changes. Since work breaks represent cost items to the companies, cost breaks possibly could be swapped for something else.

Chrysler demanded in its offer that the UAW reduce immediately the ratio of union representatives to employees. It said its ratio was higher than at GM or Ford. Union representatives are company-paid when processing grievances or otherwise attending to union business in the plants.

General Motors said it would make an offer to the International Union of Electrical Workers later. This was expected closely to follow that proposed to the UAW, as did the company's first offer three years ago. GM has some 25,000 IUE members.

Correction

A picture in Sunday's Post-Crescent of Bob Cleveland, Neenah native who is a professional clown, was erroneously credited as a Post-Crescent photo. The picture was taken by Calvin Zernicke of Zernicke Studios, Neenah, and was one of two which earned blue ribbon awards for Zernicke Studio in Arrowhead-Fox Valley Professional Photographer competition, covering the entire northern half of the state.

The engagement picture of Miss Ann Petersen, the fiancée of John Lenz, Neenah, is also a Zernicke Photo. The engagement announcement appeared in Sunday's Post-Crescent.

Police Restore Order After 5-Hour Rioting beaten by the white store owner in the quarrel.

Protesting Negroes demonstrated Saturday night and returned Sunday night in greater force. "The civil rights leaders lost control," said Horsmann, who had been on duty in the area for two days.

Horsmann said at one time civil rights leaders used police microphones urging the crowds to disperse. But the crowds "just wanted violence," he said. Most of the demonstrators were youths in their teens, he said.

Vandalism and Looting

The demonstrators smashed windows in the closed liquor store and began looting, but were driven off by police.

The Negroes retreated a few blocks east of the store, where they began stoning autos. Horsmann said 53 persons were injured.

"I was driving home when all of a sudden I see a mob of kids taking aim at us with rocks," said Joe Mazzotti, 35, of nearby Hazelcrest, whose 6-year-old son was cut by flying glass. "They were maybe 15 to 20 years old."

New Home Set Afire

"As soon as I saw them I heard one say — 'Here's a white one' — and I stepped on the gas and took off. My windshield was broken by a rock."

The mob set fire to a vacant new home in an attempt, officials said, to lure police and fire officials into the area. Fire trucks called from neighboring communities were among the first vehicles to be stoned.

James Malnor, assistant fire chief of Dixmoor, said, "I'll tell you, they're like savages." Malnor was cut on the face by a flying brick.

Police Escort Firemen

The home burned to the ground and another next door was damaged as it took firemen an hour and a half, escorted by 30 policemen, to reach the scene.

Sheriff Ogilvie used army tactics to break the back of the rioting. Telling his men that "if anyone shoots, we're shooting back," he ordered a squad of 50 men to move through the heart of the riot area. Earlier, small arms fire had been heard.

The officers, closely following six squad cars, marched warily down the littered streets.

Explosive Situation

Back near the liquor store, police reinforcements waited with firemen manning high velocity hoses.

"It was tense, real tense," said Horsmann.

"It's like 200 tons of TNT with a short fuse in there," said another police officer, Capt. C. W. Oliver of the Illinois State Police.

The Negroes watched the police from their neat bungalows and modern apartments in the middle-class neighborhood. No shots were fired.

Police said that except for the liquor market no other stores were looted. Many autos were abandoned in the area, most of

Johnson Doesn't Like Secret Service Escort

Guard Proposed for Presidential Candidates During Campaigning

BY J. W. DAVIS
WASHINGTON (AP) — It's no secret at the White House that President Johnson dislikes having the Secret Service shepherd him around.
And it's no secret that the Secret Service agents get very unhappy about Johnson's habit of mixing with crowds.
Now it appears that Sen. Barry Goldwater shares Johnson's attitude. At least, as the Republican presidential nominee, he's not asking for a guard.
"I never feel in any danger," Goldwater said last week. "I feel that when the Lord wants you, He's going to take you."
Goldwater was replying to questions about a proposal by his vice presidential running mate, Rep. William E. Miller, that Goldwater be given Secret Service protection during the campaign.
Miller made his proposal when asked whether he saw a possibility of racial violence at campaign appearances by Goldwater. Miller said the possibility called for serious consideration.
The question of protection for presidential nominees had come up earlier, a few days after Goldwater's nomination.
He said then: "If a fellow wants to assassinate somebody, he can do it. I get one or two threats a week. I think they're mostly crackpots."
The Secret Service now begins protection of the president-elect just as soon as it becomes apparent who he's going to be. Agents wait in the wings of both candidates' headquarters on election night.
A bill that would authorize the Secret Service to protect major party nominees for both president and vice president was introduced in the House last week by a Republican congressman, Rep. Charles E. Goodell of New York.

GOP Looking For Gains in House, Senate

Resulting From Goldwater Heading Republican Ticket

BY JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Thurston B. Morton said he thinks Sen. Barry Goldwater's name at the head of the Republican ticket will bring substantial GOP gain in the Senate and House.
Morton, Kentucky Republican who heads his party's Senatorial Campaign Committee, said this might be particularly true in the South, the border states, the Midwest and the West.
Sen. Warren G. Magnuson of Washington, head of the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee, said in a separate interview he believes that Goldwater's statements about "extremism" and on other issues will bring a record number of Democrats to the polls.
Heavy Vote
"If we can get out a heavy Democratic vote, it will help all of our candidates," Magnuson said. "I think that a lot of Democrats are going to turn out to make sure that Goldwater isn't elected and doesn't carry conservatives into office with him."
The Democrats, who now have a 66-33 margin in the Senate, have 26 seats at stake in the November balloting. There are nine Republican seats up for grabs.
Despite some public claims to the contrary, neither party expects any change in Senate control. The Democrats believe they will about hold their own. Republicans privately hope to gain from three to seven seats.
In the House, which Democrats control 254-177, with four vacancies, there may be a substantial turnover in personnel but few observers believe the standings of the parties will be altered materially.
The Republicans view the Ohio senatorial race, where Rep. Robert Taft Jr. is contesting Democratic Sen. Stephen M. Young, as their best bet for a senatorial gain.
They list Oklahoma, Wyoming, Utah and Texas — all states in which Goldwater is reputed to be strong — as states where they believe their chances are better than average to take Senate seats away from the Democrats.
Wisconsin, Indiana, Minnesota and Michigan come next on their list of states where they have hopes of upsetting Senate Democrats. They figure they have an outside chance in Connecticut and Maine.
On the other hand, the Republicans are privately gloomy about holding on to Senate seats they now have in New York, Pennsylvania and Maryland.
Those three states are high on the Democratic list of possible gains from the Republicans. The Democratic strategists also believe they can knock off Republicans in New Mexico and Hawaii.

Appleton Public Safety Unit Asks Change in Fireman's Shift Hours
The Appleton City Council's public safety committee has recommended a change in the shift hours of an Appleton fireman so he will be able to do carpenter work at the new No. 1 fire station.
The building, to be completed this fall, is located at Atlantic and Drew Streets.
The matter of rearranging the fireman's working hours will be voted on by the common council Wednesday night.
In its recommendation the committee says that by placing the fireman on an eight hour day, four hour week basis as of Aug. 17, he will be able to do carpenter work at the new station.
The committee says the work will be done by the City of Appleton.

Platform Hearings Begin

Legislative Reapportionment an Issue Inside Democratic Party

BY JOHN CHADWICK
WASHINGTON (AP) — A Democratic platform scrap shaped up Sunday over the Supreme Court's legislative reapportionment decision, an issue already boiling in Congress and threatening to delay adjournment.
Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., and Reps. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., and Ray Madden, D-Ind., all members of the Platform Committee, said they will seek adoption of a plank endorsing the court's controversial ruling that both houses of state legislatures must be apportioned on population.
The 108-member Platform Committee has been cleared for action by the House Rules Committee.
A less drastic measure in the Senate provides for delay, in a move that would gain time for adoption of a constitutional amendment. Its chief sponsor is Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, but Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana joined him in offering it.
One Man, One Vote
Celler, chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, said he could turn into a major battle will "strongly urge" that the Democratic platform include a plank supporting the Supreme Court's one-man, one-vote apportionment decision.
Clark said he also plans to fight for such a plank. "And Madden said it would be well to write into the platform a commendation of the court for initiating what he termed overdue action to correct inequities in

Tshombe Seeks Scout Planes From America

Wants to Watch Rebel Movements In Eastern Congo

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Premier Moise Tshombe has called on the United States to send his government long range scout planes so it can keep closer watch on rebel movements in the eastern Congo.
A U.S. Embassy official said Tshombe's appeal, made during a talk with G. Mennen Williams, U.S. assistant secretary of state for African affairs, has been sent on to Washington.
Congo Army
Dispatches from rebel territory said the Congo army has stopped a drive on Bukavu, capital of Kivu, where insurgent forces had pushed to the city's outskirts.
Army headquarters said about 300 rebels have been killed in mopup operations in the hills around Bukavu.
The army announcement said documents found on prisoners and dead rebels included military writing by Red Chinese leader Mao Tze-tung, Communist leaflets and a list of strategic points to occupy in Bukavu.
Emergency Supplies
Emergency medical supplies and food were ordered airlifted from Leopoldville to Baudouinville, recaptured by Katangan police last week after rebels had burned and looted the city. About 1,500 persons in Baudouinville were reported homeless.
Four American Air Force C130 Hercules planes were sent here last week to fly such missions.
Some 7.5 tons of American surplus food and medical supplies have been provided by the United Nations for shipment to Baudouinville.
Particular organizations would be singled out, Clark said he would be content with a plank such as George W. Romney of Michigan offered at the GOP convention. It mentioned no organizations by name.
Romney's proposed plank was to a discussion of whether the platform drafters would denounce extremism, but Madden said he has no doubt this will be done and Clark said he too favors such a plank.
Madden said, however, he doesn't know whether any par-

Kids Have Problems

Summer Vacations Not Long as Adults Think

BY VIVIAN BROWN
WILTON, Conn. (AP) — A boy's summer vacation isn't as long or as wonderful as most people think, a 10-year-old said. Faced with a list of chores that began with "Weed the beans and turnip greens" and ended with "Don't forget to mow the front lawn," he lamented that it is "Parents who never had it so good."

Father's Promise
"Your father promises to take it great in summer. I wish you were your age," they keep saying. But kids have more troubles than anybody, because adults give them all the chores they don't feel like doing. It's late to go to the beach on a nice hot day, and your mother says you can't go because the town is going to tar the road.

Beautiful Morning
"You come downstairs on a beautiful morning all set to go to your friend's house early some morning, his mother says 'He can't mother says, 'Come back here, go out, yet.' You wait around an eat your breakfast and clean up hour and when he finally comes your room. By the time you are finished, it is raining."

"Your grandmother comes to visit and all she wants to see on television is 'Password,' 'Love Life,' 'Edge of Night,' and doctor programs your parents don't want you to see."

"You go for a ride on your bike, and teen-agers on motorcycles try to scare you to death at the stomach."

"You help your best friend."

Supreme Court Chief Justice Was Ideal of Judge Nathan Heffernan

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — When Nathan S. Heffernan was a fledgling lawyer in Sheboygan, one of the most distinguished leaders of the local bar was George R. Currie, now the chief justice of the Wisconsin Supreme Court. When Heffernan began his rise in state affairs, as deputy state attorney general among other things, he could not quite abandon the habit of deference to the man who was 20 years his senior. Now the young lawyer is preparing to take his seat on the State Supreme Court bench where Justice Currie presides, and wonders whether he will get used to the idea that he has risen in the world to a rank comparable to that of the man he admired so deeply in his youthful beginning years.

Gov. Reynolds kept his counsel with unusual stubbornness while he struggled with himself about the selection to the court, the most important appointment of his public career. The decision was a trying one. Heffernan had become convinced by Reynolds' aloof attitude that his own cause had become lost. The governor had several other faithful friends who were interested in the appointment that scarcely any lawyer would willingly decline.

When Heffernan came to the executive office hours before the formal announcement was made, he was convinced that the governor summoned him to say that the choice had gone to another.

Wisconsin and the Midwest will be a more intensively competitive political battleground than the political leaders have thus far confided publicly.

Republican national commanders have made no secret of their conviction that the Midwest is essential to their strategy this year, as it has been traditionally. Normally there is a tendency among national Democratic campaign strategists, however, to minimize Wisconsin and its neighbor states because of their historic Republican loyalties.

But this year it will be different. Top Wisconsin Democrats who have visited in Washington lately have been told by President Johnson's White House intimates that they are prepared to concede nothing hereabouts. A special Middlewestern campaign machine is now being forged — to fit with LBJ's desire for the maximum campaign impact here.

It is the season of whispered confidences among the politicians about the latest results of the polls commissioned by the anxious parties and their candidates.

For what it is worth, one recent poll sponsored by Democratic interests and keyed to the formal announcement was certain the electoral attitudes made, he was convinced that the year showed Warren Knowles, as the prospective Republican nominee, leading Gov. John W. Reynolds, and Sen. William Proxmire substantially leading challenger Wilbur Rink.

A widely known Wisconsin political figure, taking a walk around capitol square, looked at the name on the Woman's Exchange building and remarked: "I have one I'd like to turn in."

David Carley, who won't become Democratic national committeeman for the state until the Democratic national convention meets next week, is already intimately involved in the national campaign plans of the Johnson administration. Carley's invitation to a White House Dinner a fortnight ago was a not-so-oblique hint of his favored status in the national party since its take-over by President Johnson.

A special committee of the State Bar of Wisconsin chosen to study a proposal for the creation of a professional academy to provide honorary recognition for distinguished lawyers and jurists has rejected the idea.

John Lawton of Madison, best known as an advocate of labor causes, has been named chairman of the legislative committee of the State Bar of Wisconsin by Lyall T. Beggs, new Bar president and former professional associate.

Political party contributions on the installment plan are evidently working out successfully for the Democratic organization of Wisconsin.

The party's pledge plan provides for the donation of stated annual amounts by well-wishers — including notably those Democrats who have been appointed to salaried and honorary offices — but the pain has been eased considerably by an arrangement for remittances on a monthly basis.

Flowers I have known

by CHARLES HOUSE

I know the Madonna lily. Is this the oldest and the most beautiful flower ever to be cultivated?

Very likely! It is known to have been cultivated as early as 3,000 years B. C., and its likeness may be seen carved on Cretan vases made between 1750 B.C. and 1600 B.C. Furthermore, it was cultivated by the ancient Romans and, in fact, is still to be found in all countries ever to be occupied by those far-ranging Romans. One of its legendary uses was for the treatment of corns—and you know how far soldiers must walk! At any rate, it is thought that the Romans brought the Madonna lily with them when they invaded England.

The white lily is the emblem of the Resurrection of the Virgin. The association between Mary and the lily dates from the year Two. Tradition was that when her tomb was visited three days after her burial, it was empty except for roses and lilies.

The spotless white petals of the Madonna lily and its golden glow almost from within renders the flower a suitable one for its place as a sacred flower.

Despite its glory, it was often used for mundane purposes. One of the physicians for Queen Elizabeth said that the lily root covered with honey would glue together sinews "that be cut in sunder." It was good for curing burns, too—and growing hair, he said in quaint language—and trimly deck a blank place with hair.

Student Held in Fatal Beatings

CHULA VISTA, Calif. (AP) — A young divinity student was held today in the fatal beatings of his parents and a younger brother and sister.

Raymond Goedecke, 18, was booked on suspicion of murdering his landscape architect father, Henry, 42; his mother, Joan, 39; his sister, Ellen, 15, and brother, Mark, 8.

Police Lt. Roy Borchers, member of the Pilgrim Lutheran church where the senior Goedecke was an elder, said the boy told him he had grown to hate his father because of repeated scoldings over his poor grades at Lutheran Concordia College in Oakland last year.

Borchers said the youth left a Lutheran camp at Valley Center in San Diego County — where Borchers is a counselor — and drove home early Friday. He said the boy told him he attacked his father in bed with a steel rod and stabbed him more than 20 times.

His mother, brother and sister awakened and Raymond said he scratched me, then I saw the rascal slithering away." Davis started giving me a bad time."

By the time he got to Albany, he said, his leg "had really

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by a doctor's observations. Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all — this improvement was maintained in cases where a doctor's observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®) — the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H®. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters.

Goldwater Is Misunderstood On Weapons

Present Method Of Control Called Unsatisfactory

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — The most conspicuous example of a misunderstanding in the political campaign today involves an implication that Senator Goldwater wants the various military commanders in the field to be permitted to use all kinds of nuclear weapons at will. The Arizona senator, however, in all his statements has referred only to the use of tactical nuclear weapons abroad. He has repeatedly said that discretion to use these, in the event of an enemy attack, should be given, not to all field generals, but solely to the supreme commander of NATO forces in Europe, who is usually an American.

Administration spokesmen, on the other hand, insist that at all times the president alone should make the decision as to whether any sort of nuclear weapon is to be used, even in retaliation after an enemy attack.

To get at the pros and cons of this military issue, General Max S. Johnson, U.S. army retired, who for many years was the head of the Army War College and at present is military analyst for "U.S. News & World Report," has just made a special study. It is presented in a lengthy article in this week's issue of the magazine. Excerpts follow:

Recent Weapons
"The weapons involved are those developed in recent years for use in combat by the Army and the tactical air forces. Most of the Army weapons are equipped with relatively small nuclear warheads and have a relatively short range—usually only a few miles. . . . these weapons are nuclear-age 'follow-ons' to older, traditional artillery, howitzers, and larger mortars. Yet they all use nuclear ammunition. So their use, conceivably, could trigger a nuclear war, and lead into rapid 'escalation' to general nuclear war. Hence the firm control over their use thus far, with presidential release required before they can be fired in wartime. . . .

"There is, unfortunately, an almost infinite variety of ways in which a war could start on the European continent. If the Russians were simply to unleash a general nuclear attack, strategic and tactical, upon Western Europe and the United States, then a decision to retaliate in kind presumably would reach the defending troops promptly. But the problem may not be this simple.

"The problem would be of a different order, for example, if the Russians should launch a land assault on Western Europe supported only by tactical nuclear weapons, while holding off on the use of strategic weapons. It would be even more difficult if they should launch a conventional attack only, perhaps with an announcement that red forces would not employ nuclear weapons as long as the West refrained from using them.

Defending Forces
"At that point, if NATO's defending forces were unable to match the enemy in conventional strength, someone would have to make the decision whether to resort to nuclear weapons in an effort to stop the incursion, or else retreat or surrender. But what circumstances, when and where, would determine the decision? And by whom should this decision be made? By a military commander at some echelon or other? By the president? By some executive agent for NATO, charged with making that decision? . . .

"Against a conventional attack, U.S. Army tests in Europe indicate that it would not be necessary to fire nuclear weapons within five minutes, to insure the integrity of NATO forces and of their key defensive positions. . . .

"But a decision on whether to use tactical nuclear arms may very well have to be made within two hours. And since it may take a command upward of two hours to reach itself against the hazardous effects of its own nuclear weapons—let alone the enemy's response—this may well entail getting release to fire very shortly after an enemy attack starts.

The further the local commander must go up the chain of command to get his release to fire, the more the safety of his command or his mission is in jeopardy, as a practical matter.

tainly as possible—the civilians they are U.S. weapons and our law requires their control by the military, and the military because they want the responsibility to rest on the political leadership. . . .

"Control of most of NATO's nuclear weapons by civilians back in Washington, on the other hand, involves a built-in time lag in making the decision—a lag that could be dangerous under some conditions, very hazardous in others.

Washington Control
"In addition, control from Washington is unsatisfactory to the rest of NATO. And yet, at present, it is the president of the U.S. who has the final say on the release of all tactical nuclear weapons in NATO, since they are U.S. weapons and our law requires their control by the president."

This is a controversy of grave importance to the safety of the Western World—far more realistic than might appear from the recent tendency to confine the issue solely to a question of impetuosity or restraint by an American president. Actually, what's more important is that the Western World should be able to respond instantly to any attack and thus, by making known the procedure to the whole world, emphasize not only the deterrent power of the west but its preparedness to use all weapons—including nuclear—the release of all tactical nuclear weapons in NATO, since (Copyright, 1964)

Your Money's Worth Signals of Inflation Dangers are Flashing

BY SYLVIA PORTER

Four danger signals of renewed inflation are flashing on the price-wage horizon of the U.S. today. They're still only signals on this Aug. 17, 1964 and they will may turn out to be false alarms but they are unmistakably clearer than three months ago.

(1) First is the threat of hikes in steel prices which would go beyond the willingness or ability of steel consumers to absorb them and which, therefore, would ripple out into a wave of price boosts in other industries. Since the steel industry floated its trial balloon on higher prices a few weeks ago, steel leaders have been silent and have been obviously testing the reaction of the administration and consumers. Meanwhile President Johnson has issued just one statement that increases "would strongly conflict with our national interest in price stability" and now the administration, too, is following a policy of watchful waiting. There's no doubt, though, that steel's top leaders feel they need price increases to finance their plant expansion and modernization programs, are carefully weighing the pros and cons.

Executives Unmoved
Steel executives are unmoved by hard statistics indicating that their production and sales will hit all-time records in 1964 and their earnings will be well above 1963. Their retort is that despite these production-sales peaks, their profits are still below 1955's highs and this is a mix they bitterly resent. Moreover, the logic is that if steel price hikes are to be made and to stick, they must be posted against a strong market background—and this steel has now.

There's also no doubt that objective economists in and out of the administration fear the impact of any but slight and selective price hikes. Steel is a bellwether industry, its price actions are a symbol of stability or instability in our price structure.

Wage Settlement
(2) Second is the threat of a fat wage settlement in the auto industry which would set a pattern for union demands in other prosperous industries beyond the willingness or ability of the corporations to absorb them and which, therefore, also would ripple out into a wave of price boosts.

The auto negotiations are finally into the serious stage and there's no question that the bargaining will be rough as the Aug. 31 contract expiration date nears.

A breakthrough in the fringe benefit area as well as a hefty cash wage boost is a high possibility.

(3) Third is the threat of a consumer spending spree this fall—based on the fact that consumers have been putting huge chunks of their extra take-home pay into savings and repayment of debts. This is a pattern which could lead to a buying spurt at any time and put added pressure under prices.

So far, consumers have been handling their tax cuts in superbly restrained fashion. While our after-tax incomes soared $12 billion in the second quarter, largest quarterly jump on record, our spending on goods and services rose only $6 billion. The balance went into savings and debt repayment. Savings are now running at more than 8 per cent of after-tax personal incomes, highest rate in a decade. The rise in installment buying in June was the smallest in nine months, reflecting the fact that many consumers are using their tax savings to pay off existing loans.

Rising Backlog
There is a tremendous and rising backlog of spending power in the hands of millions of families—and as the backlog increases, so does the threat of a spending spree.

(4) Fourth is the threat of a hefty steel wage settlement in early 1965—spurred by this year's auto wage contract, by steel profits and by any steel price hikes.

To date, none of the four is more than a signal on the price-wage horizon. To date, our economy's expansion—moving through its 42nd month—remains strong, solid and free of speculative excesses.

To date, all of the talk in public is about how close to ideal our economy's performance is. But we're approaching the crucial weeks—and in private, responsible observers are worrying more and more about the threats.
